

GLENDALE FIFTH IN PACIFIC SOUTHWEST BUILDING FOR FIRST SIX MONTHS OF YEAR BALLOON CREW LOST IN LAKE ERIE

NAVAL ENTRY IN CONTEST REPORTED WRECKED

Gallant American Aviators Probably Perish After Hours of Drifting

PORT STANLEY, Ontario, July 7.—The government boat Elsie Doris was steaming at noon today to a sector of Lake Erie, 250 miles southeast of here, to the aid of a wrecked balloon sighted there by the steamship Colonial early today. Captain Bassian of the Colonial said he believed the crew of the stricken balloon was lost. It is believed to be the wreckage of the A-6698, naval entry in the national elimination balloon race, which started from Indianapolis on July 4, piloted by Lieutenant L. J. Roth and T. B. Null.

Captain Bassian when five miles off the wreckage sighted it bobbing in the turbulent water. Circulating the wreckage he noted the grim evidence of a tragedy of the air.

Convinced that the crew was lost, Captain Bassian ordered his vessel to steam toward Port Stanley, where he informed government officials. The government boat was immediately dispatched to the scene.

Like Great Eye The balloon's markings, a red star surrounded by white and blue circles, like a great eye could be plainly seen, Captain Bassian reported.

If the half submerged wreckage proves to be the missing naval balloon, the two gallant American aviators probably lost their lives after hours of hopeless drifting and frantic efforts to reach land.

According to officers of the Colonial, the balloon offered silent witness to efforts made by the crew to effect their own rescue by lightening the vessel so that their diminished gas supply might carry them to land.

L. A. COUNTY TO GREET HARDING

Glendale People at Meeting To Plan Big Welcome For President

"It is possible for Los Angeles county to give President Harding the greatest reception ever given any president in the United States. We are the most prosperous county and surely the happiest."

Attorney W. E. Evans, speaking for Glendale at a meeting in Long Beach last night of the Ninth Congressional district committee for the entertainment of the President's party, made the foregoing assertion to which he added:

"We are going to be blest by a visit of the president and his charming wife. Mr. Harding is getting tremendously close to the American people today. They are just beginning to know of his great traits of character. I would like to see you plan the greatest ovation possible along the route from Hollywood to Long Beach, via Glendale and Pasadena."

Outline Program Congressman Walter F. Lineberger and Chairman Ralph Arnold of the Republican County Central committee outlined the program for the president's visit in the southland. The congressman of this district described in detail where he desired his constituents concentrated to greet the nation's executive.

West Broadway Widening Will Be Discussed

WIDENING of West Broadway from Central avenue to San Fernando road, with installation of an ornamental street lighting system and other matters appurtenant thereto, will be discussed at a meeting of property owners and others interested, to be held 8 o'clock Monday night, July 9, in the ready office of O. M. Newby, 107 South Central avenue.

Mr. Newby, who makes the announcement, states that one result of the meeting will be the genesis of a permanent organization of property owners to carry through a program such as outlined above.

"It is logical that West Broadway should be the next of our city streets to be widened and adequately lit," Mr. Newby states. "Its value and importance as a vital thoroughfare are altogether out of harmony with its present under-developed condition."

All concerned with the proposed development of West Broadway are urged to be present at Monday night's meeting.

GOLDFIELD MASS OF BURNED RUINS

TONOPAH, Nev., July 7.—With but a few buildings left standing, Goldfield, Nev., most famous boom gold camp, was an area of burned ruins today. A special train brought most of the town's 500 population here, while food and clothing for those remaining in the town were sent by automobile.

The property loss is estimated at from $500,000 to $750,000. The Goldfield hotel and the Elks hall are the principal buildings left standing, a fortunate shift in the wind saving them.

BREAK NEAR OVER RUHR SABOTAGE

Ultimatums to Germany by France and Belgium, Is Report in Berlin

PARIS, July 7.—The foreign office today declined to confirm reports from Berlin that the French and Belgian ambassadors had sent ultimatums to Chancellor Cuno threatening to break off diplomatic relations if the German government does not forthwith disavow the acts of sabotage in the Ruhr.

While not denying the truth of the reports, the foreign office statement said Paris has no knowledge of the reported action.

It was added, however, that if a disavowal is not immediately made and Belgium withdraws its ambassador in Berlin, similar action will be taken by France.

The foreign office announced later it had received confirmation from Brussels of the Belgian demands on Cuno. The demands were said to include a public disavowal of the Duisburg bombing of the Belgian troop train last Saturday and aid in apprehending the guilty ones.

An alternative under the Belgian demand, was the recall of its ambassador.

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service LONDON, July 7.—Premier Stanley Baldwin today found the security of his own position and his cabinet threatened by the failure of the Anglo-French negotiations.

It was becoming apparent that the prime minister must soon choose between the continuance of his power in English affairs and the continuance of co-operation with France.

English opinion is manifesting growing impatience with what it considers France's procrastination on the Ruhr and reparations problems. In all quarters the demand for a settlement of the question is growing.

Unable to Agree Thus far it was learned, France and England have been able to agree only that the points at issue should be settled by an international commission. The two countries have not been able to agree, however, upon the basis on which the questions involved would be submitted to such a commission.

The conversation yesterday between Count De Saint Aulaire, French ambassador in London, and Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, was fruitless.

Eleven thousand volts was carried by the tape from the transmission line through the bodies of the men.

Several others were rendered unconscious. All were employees of the Western Union.

LEADS EVERY CITY IN ITS CLASS IN CONSTRUCTION WORK, SO FIGURES SHOW

Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego, Pasadena Only Cities In Great Territory Ahead Of Glendale In Building So Far 1923

GLENDALE stands fifth in building in the Pacific Southwest for the first six months of this year! This city is headed only by Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Pasadena, all cities having a much larger population. Incidentally, Glendale stands fifth in building for the month of June in the Pacific Southwest.

Having passed the $5,000,000 mark for the first six months of the year, there is every indication Glendale will finish 1923 with a total of $10,000,000 in construction work, predicts H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the municipal building department.

As brought out in the Development Section of this issue of The Glendale Evening News, Mr. Vandewater's records show that bungalows, duplexes and courts are literally going up in Glendale by the hundreds. Among the work started in June was an apartment building, eight duplexes, thirteen office buildings, over 100 bungalows, ten or more large houses, and sixteen miscellaneous permits, totaling $325,147 in themselves.

Watch Glendale Grow to 60,000 People!

Another significant angle to the above figures is to be found in the fact that this half-year's total of $5,168,935 in building permits is 1-2-3 the $3,078,410 of permits issued during the first six months of 1922. Should this ratio continue through another year, the total for January to June, inclusive, 1924, would reach the large figure of $8,614,890.

With Glendale's population estimated today at 42,000 people, and with large investments of capital pouring into the city, it is becoming obvious to everyone but the pessimists, that the day when "the fastest growing city in America" will spell "home" to 60,000 is not far off.

Glendale's total of building permits for the month of June reached $900,051 for actual construction, spread over 237 different jobs, making the total for the year to date $5,168,935; while July has gone well over the $100,000 mark its first week.

The significance of these figures becomes more apparent when it is known that the $900,051 of June, the current year, is four times the $202,471 of the same month, 1920; three times the $294,961 of that month, 1921; and twice the $355,613 of June, 1922.

New High Record In Pacific Southwest

A new high record for building in the Pacific Southwest was made by operations for the first six months of 1923. Thirty-seven cities, including Los Angeles, report a total for the first half of the year of $158,985,093 as compared with $97,447,954 for the corresponding period in 1922. This is a gain of about 61 per cent.

Remarkable gains were made by a number of cities outside Los Angeles, notably Glendale, Long Beach, Alhambra, Inglewood, Beverly Hills and Torrance. Only one city failed to show an increase compared with the first six months of 1922. Thirty-six cities outside Los Angeles reported a total of $65,095,908 for the first half of 1923 as compared with $37,008,704 for the corresponding period of 1922.

Following are the cities reporting permits for the first half of 1923 to Southwest Builder and Contractor, together with permits for the same period in 1922:

June Of This Year Far Ahead Of Last

Building operations in thirty-seven cities of the Pacific Southwest, including Los Angeles, for the month of June, showed a slight recession compared with May but a very large gain in comparison with June, 1922. The total for June, 1923 was $27,190,326, and for June 1922, $16,852,790. For May, 1923, thirty-seven cities reported a total of $28,990,707. Long Beach made a remarkable showing for June, rolling up a total of $3,422,324 as compared with $1,123,040 the same month a year ago. Only six cities reported a loss compared with June, 1922. Thirty-six cities outside Los Angeles reported a total of $12,115,880 for June, 1923, and for the same month a year ago a total of $6,200,525. ## ENJOY VACATION IN NATL. FOREST

Fish Plentiful But Wary in Klamath River, Reports
Local Druggist

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Echols, who have just moved from 541 North Jackson street to 127 West Cerritos avenue, recollect with pleasure their recent vacation trip to Klamath National forest. Frank Echols is associated with Fred H. Roberts at 102 East Broadway in the operation of the Roberts & Echols Drug store. En route north he stopped at Eureka to attend the annual convention of the California Pharmaceutical Association.

At San Francisco Mr. Echols' cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Echols, joined the party. They live upon Angel Island in San Francisco bay and before departure Frank Echols was lucky enough to catch a four-pound bass about two feet long. He reports that it was extremely delicious.

After leaving Eureka, the motor party continued northward pausing at the mouths of various streams to fish, but without much luck. They were much interested to find huge natural dams at the mouths of many of these streams causing the water to spread over immense lagoons. These dams are only broken at times of especially high water when their contents is allowed to flow into the ocean.

Lots of Big Fish
The itinerary then went to Grant's Pass, Oregon, Yreka, and then twenty-five miles west to Klamath National forest. Here they made the longest stop. K. M. Echols succeeded in catching twenty-three fish in one day. This was the largest catch. The Frank Echols believes that the Klamath river and its tributaries are all well stocked with fish. In fact, he expressed his opinion that it would be impossible to dive in without getting a mouthful of chowder. He said that pieces could constantly be seen not only in the water but jumping around over the surface. No, he did not say anything about any of them walking about on the banks. However, the fish were wary and would not take artificial bait. Whenever salmon flies could be found on the banks, the fish took the hooks readily.

On the return trip the party spent two days at Shasta Springs. Mr. Echols believes that one of the most picturesque water falls in California is Moss Brae falls, one-fourth of a mile from the railroad station at Shasta.

MINISTER SPEAKS AT KIWANIS CLUB

Rev. M. E. Bollen, Fullerton
Pastor, Makes Address
To Organization

The Glendale Kiwanis Club, which met at noon yesterday in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, had as its luncheon speaker Rev. M. E. Bollen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fullerton. His subject was "Sawdust and Shavings."

Atmospheric conditions are responsible for the formation of coal and its transformation into diamonds, as well as for the existence of many other minerals and conditions upon this planet, according to Dr. Bollen. He added that the spirit of Kiwanis International is the "atmosphere" which should permeate each of the thousand separate clubs and transform their individual members from soft coal to anthracite and finally into diamonds in character.

President A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street motored from Santa Barbara, where he is visiting, especially in order to attend the luncheon. Bert Perry of 1619 South Glendale avenue introduced the speaker. Col. J. D. Farmer, chief of police, and Secretary Don H. Webb had part in the arrangements also.

Patriotic Address
A patriotic address was made by E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. His speech, announcing the expected passage of President Warren G. Harding through Glendale about 11:30 a. m. August 3, was punctuated with applause. He urged business men present to decorate their stores and for the club to turn out en masse to do honor to the chief executive of this nation.

"This is an event," he remarked, "which many cities would pay hundreds and thousands of dollars to have happen to them." Mayor Spencer Robinson asserted that special arrangements would be made to have President Harding stop off in Glendale at least for a few minutes.

Tell About Vacation
Reports upon vacation trips were made by Frank Echols of 102 East Broadway and Dr. W. T. Hurt of 620 East Broadway, both of whom admitted that they had enjoyed pleasant outings.

Announcement of the banquet and program to be given at the Hotel Maryland, commencing at 7:30 next Friday night, in honor of Leslie B. Henry of Pasadena, who is now a director of Kiwanis International, was made by Leon T. Ethel of Pasadena. He suggested that it might be well for the local club to attend in a body.

A Kiwanian automobile emblem donated by Frank Echols was the attendance prize. P. J. Hayseiden of 901 South Glendale avenue won it.

SLIGHT OPERATION
A minor operation was performed upon Mrs. Ethel Francis, of 745 East Wilson avenue, this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

DECIDING POINTS

IN BUYING AUTO

Power, Beauty and Freedom

From Care Demanded,

Says Paige Agent

"There are some things that every motorist looks for in the car that he intends to buy," says Ralph B. Bliss, Paige and Jewett dealer, 306 East Colorado, "and it is these factors, apparently small in themselves, but bulking large when taken all together, that help to decide the car that is eventually bought."

"Perhaps it is beauty that is the desired factor. In the Paige the classic lines lend a simple dignity to the car, the finish is laid on to withstand wind and weather, the upholstery, in both open and closed models, is of the finest, and, with proper care, the car will retain its beauty as long as it is in its owner's possession."

"Or perhaps it is ease of operation that is desired, or the serene silence that goes with a perfectly constructed and balanced motor, or the true comfort that is only to be found in cars that have easy riding qualities embodied in them as an integral principle, or the ideal behavior of a car that answers like a thoroughbred to the slightest touch of its driver. These points are all found in the Paige, as is the large reserve of power that sends the Paige flying along the highways like a greyhound, the freedom from care that eliminates the need for adjustments and that reduces the work of the owner-driver to an absolute minimum."

"We will prove to any prospective purchaser that the Paige has every one of these features."

CALIFORNIA ACE WINS NET TITLE

Johnston Defeats Hunter in Tilt for Men's Singles Championship

WIMBLEDON, July 7.—William M. Johnston, the veteran Californian, today achieved his ambition to sit atop the tennis world when he defeated Francis
T. Hunter, a fellow American, for the title of the champion of the world in the men's singles. The score was 6-0, 6-3, 6-1.

Johnston's powerful forehand and his terrific service overwhelmed his sturdier opponent.
Hunter could not reach the little Californian's beautifully placed shots along the side lines, and when he came to the net, Johnston passed him with hard drives.
On his service Johnston was invincible. It was not returnable.
Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, shared in an Anglo-American victory in the final round of the mixed doubles at the Wimbledon tennis world's champion today, when she and her partner, Randolph Lycett, the Englishman, defeated Mrs. Barron and Deane, the all-English pair, 6-4, 7-5.

Shelby Fight Swells Dempsey's Bank Roll

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 7.
—Jack Dempsey left the state of Montana with something like $285,000 added to his bank account for having battled Tommy Gibbons fifteen rounds at Shelby.
The champion was paid $215,000 in guarantees before the bout and his agents procured about $75,000 additional through the sale of tickets. The net loss under the contract was about $25,000, since the promoters had promised him $310,000. The paid attendance was about 12,500, but the crowd totalled near 16,000, due to many complimentary tickets and the many folks who "crashed the gate."

Kearns Willing to Take on Harry Wills

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 7.
—Jack Kearns, last of the fight army which encamped in these parts for nearly six weeks left today for Salt Lake City.
"I shall spend a day or so in Salt Lake City, go to Chicago and then go to New York," said Kearns, "perhaps arriving in New York Thursday morning. I want to close that long talk about Harry Wills match. All those who want to stage the fight can step right into the picture, submit their bids, and then we will talk business."

"I figure on sending Jack Dempsey against the negro before having him take on Willard or Firpo because I think the Wills match more attractive."

Indians Add Another Win Over Red Sox

CLEVELAND, July 7.—After piling up an early lead on the Red Sox yesterday, the Indians proceeded to add another scalp to their collection, winning five to three. Uhle, of the tribesmen, who went the distance, weakened in the eighth frame, and the visitors put three tallies across. Each team poked out nine safeties.
Ehmke and Fullerton toiled on the mound for the Boston outfit.

Marathon Golfer Out To Beat Old Record

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Rudolph Supan, twenty-two years old, started out yesterday to break the world's golf marathon record of 283 holes established at San Antonio, Texas.

At 2 o'clock Supan had completed 150 holes and was going strong. He had been playing nine hours and twenty minutes.

A rainstorm failed to drive
Supan from the course. He is eating as he goes.

Phillies Win From Pirates in Swat Fest

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—After laying down a veritable barrage of base hits in their game with the Pirates yesterday, the Phillies won in handy fashion, five to two. Two of the Pirates' twirlers were touched for twelve runs, six hits and four errors.
Mitchell, who went the route for the Phillies, allowed eight hits.

Brown Slugger Hits Thirteenth Home Run

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—Kenneth Williams of the Browns, smashed one of Hoyt's slants for the circuit in the first inning of the Brown-Yankee game today. The home run was Williams' thirteenth this season.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Phillies checked the advancing Pirates 5 to 2 in the only game played in the National loop.
A triple play by the Philadelphia infield shut off Pittsburgh's attempted rally.

FRENCH TO SHOW STAND ON RUHR

Ambassador to Give British Copy of Instructions on Reparations

PARIS, July 7.—Count de
Saint Aulaire, French ambassador at London, has been instructed to turn over his written instructions on the Ruhr and reparations questions to the British foreign office for the purpose of making a copy.
The original instructions today.
The original instructions were sent by Premier Poincare to Count de Saint Aulaire will be retained by him.

In political circles the move is regarded as a concession to England's demand for a written answer to Lord Curzon's recent questionnaire on France's Ruhr policy.

Show French Policy
The written instructions sent to the French ambassador prior to the first conversations early in the week with Lord Curzon were understood to have comprised about forty pages and to have covered the French policy in a general way.

Count de Saint Aulaire's communication of these written instructions in his conversations with Lord Curzon were said to have been unsatisfactory and vague as a reply to the questionnaire.

URGES BUYERS TO ORDER CARS NOW

Demand for Single Eight Car
Strains Packard Plant,
Agent Declares

Motorists who are intending to purchase the new Packard Single Eight car that has been creating such a sensation since its manufacture was announced a few weeks ago are advised by the local agent, W. H. Daniel, 510 East
Broadway, to place their orders now, together with a deposit for the car, as orders are reaching the factory at a rate that is straining every facility of the huge plant. The payment of the deposit insures that the prospective purchaser is given priority rights over other buyers who fail to do so.

While no demonstrators are yet available for this immediate territory, Mr. Daniel can give explicit details of the new Single Eight in a manner that makes every point in the new Packard creation clear.

Mr. Daniel's success since opening the Packard agency here on the first of May has won him the warm commendation of the heads of the firm, and he is maintaining a rate of sales that promises to place him in the first flight of Southern California agents.

One of the facts on which Mr.
Daniel lays stress in discussing the many new Packards that are seen on the streets today is the surprising number of Packards of ten and twelve years old models that are still doing duty faithfully for their owners and maintaining the Packard reputation.

DAILY SERVICES PLAN OF CHURCH

Preparation for Communion Marked by Series of Special Meetings

A service will be held each evening, next week, except Saturday, at the Glendale Presbyterian church. These services will be in the way of preparation for the quarterly communion service which will be observed on Sunday, July 15th. Instead of being held at the usual morning hour this service will be held at 6 o'clock on Sunday evening. During the past years the members of this church have grown to look forward to this service as one of the most beautiful and impressive of all the services in the local church.

In anticipation of this service a meeting for prayer and conference will be held at the church on Monday evening with the assistant pastor, Rev. Louis Tinning, in charge. On Tuesday Prof. Harry W. Brown of Sangli, India, will deliver a missionary address. Mr. Brown has been engaged in industrial and educational work in India for a number of years and some of the unique evangelistic methods which he has introduced in his school work have attracted the attention of missionary workers all over India and elsewhere. On Wednesday evening Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the pastor, will conduct the prayer service. This service will be one of special interest and profit.

Thursday evening Rev. Hillis of Los Angeles will address the officers and teachers of the Sunday school at a luncheon at 6:30. This will be followed by an open conference at 7:30 to which all are invited. On Friday evening the Rev. Robert L. Evans will preach the sermon at the preparatory service. This service has come to be known as "Family Night" and every member of all the families of the congregation is expected to be present. Dr. Evans, the speaker, has recently come to Lincoln Avenue Presbyterian Church in Pasadena from St. Louis, Mo. and many will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear his message.

Diplomatic Break Is Near on Ruhr, Belief

French ambassador and Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, is not thought to have helped the situation materially.

Again, the French reply to the British Ruhr questionnaire was oral, although it was generally expected Poincare had yielded to the many pointed suggestions that a written answer would be more diplomatic and would speed the negotiations.

Nor has the situation been helped, in English opinion, by the French premier's speech last night in the chamber of deputies in which he declared there existed "no power, spiritual or temporal" which could swing France from her enforcement of the treaty of Versailles.

Must Pay, He Asserts
"Germany," the premier said, "is the only nation on earth that can get France out of the Ruhr, and she can do it by paying the reparations bill."

In these declarations is seen Poincare's answer to the English and papal suggestions that France withdraw from the occupied territory. It is regarded as reaffirming Poincare's unyielding attitude on passive resistance—the stumbling block in the Anglo-French negotiations.

The Italian and Belgian ambassadors also called on Lord Curzon yesterday. There was no written reply from Belgium, although one had confidently been expected. Belgium, it is believed, outlined its position as equivalent to that of France, though not so irreconcilably or wholeheartedly so. The next step in the negotiations has not been announced, but presumably the conversations will continue as it has been emphasized that nothing has occurred to block the way to further exchange of views.

A minor operation was performed upon Mrs. Vera Whitaker, of 1246 Justin avenue, this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Boys At Camp Shaw On Catalina Island Have Big Time Celebrating On Fourth

FOURTH OF JULY was a gala day at Camp Leon V. Shaw "on the shores of Catalina," according to the following descriptive poem sent to The Glendale Evening News by J. Harold Rhodes, editor of the camp paper. The poem recites the following incidents of Independence Day:

The morning mist was hanging low,
When above the rock went—
"Would bring a mummy from his tomb."
It waked old Ellwood from his sleep.
Tent Five began to move and rustle.
They even had an ice house hustle.
After Slater's lively notion
Soon had us in the ocean.
Some awful waves began to slop,
When Izzy's feet went in keel.
Tom Erhardt tinged the ocean red
When he leaped up to his head.
Gulick's gang without a slop,
Upon the pole soon had the flag.
Soon in our mouths we 'gan to push
The glorious, fattening oatmeal mush.
Right towards the prunes we ate
And every fellow cleaned his plate.
The mail's arrival brought a whoop.
As Slater gently leaped the loop,
Wiggins and Preston hogged the mail.
While some poor fellows sure did fail.
One leader's face was blue
At that poor chap's ineptitude.
Our Bible lesson was an "joy."
It sure went home to every boy.
Some patriotic songs were sung,
That put the pep in every lung.
The tent inspection was no lark.
Each fellow tried to make his mark.
Scout Wiggins' gang did lose some ticks.
For the banner went to number six.
In baseball Twelve and Thirteen roared.
For they have never failed to score.
At noon the chocolate pudding prize
Went to the "Evans' Woodruff guys."
At 2 P. M. there were some races.
That threw the sand in all faces:
The barley game, race in sack,
Threw several fellows on their backs.
Then, with the gloves some champions sparred—
John Elliott showed the mitts were hard.
Several omelets tasted air,
And gloves were well mixed up with hair.
These verses now must fade away.
For there's been brought from far
A wagon load of dynamite,
And bombs enough to make the moon moon.
Run over the edge of Mexico
And make the boys yell, Oh! Oh! Oh!
Some Fourth of July at "X" Camp.
For old U. S. say rah! rah! rah!
The following on "Nature Accepts No Excuses" was written for the camp paper by Athletic Director Slater.
"The constantly moving ocean does not take account of the fact that possibly the person who rocks the boat has not learned how to swim. His negligence in that respect probably is the means of the close of his life."
"The child who stumbles onto the stove or into the fire is not inclined to consider the fact that he did not know that it was hot. As soon as he learns that ignorance is not an acceptable excuse, he keeps away from the fire."
"In the hospitals of every civilized country are hundreds and thousands of sufferers who have discovered too late that nature does not regard as acceptable this excuse, often made, of other people, that they know nothing of the laws of health. If they get well they remember that, and take better care of themselves in the future."
Causes Inefficiency
"If excuses were never acceptable there would be less suffering and fewer expensive mistakes. But man, being himself, is ready to accept excuses, and to overlook just this once' misconduct."
"It is, of course, a kindly thing to do as far as appearances go, but in the long run it results in the stimulation of a great deal of laziness and inefficiency. The most hopeless victims of the excuse habit are those who make excuses, and at last feel justified in anything that they do, be it right or wrong."
"The laws of nature are firmly laid down. It requires but little effort to learn them. Once they have been learned people ought to live healthy and happy lives. But while nature may appear to overlook one violation or twenty she really is keeping track of them remorselessly and the day will come when it will be too late to be sorry.

"It might be a trifle tougher to get along in this world if people were as remorseless in the matter of accepting excuses as nature, but such a state of affairs would surely breed a more independent, self-reliant and a happier and abler race of human beings."

On July 5, the day the letter was written to the News, the weather in camp was a little windy. However, up to that time it had been splendid-time and enjoying camp to the fullest extent."

Ambition—Aided by Confidence—Will Result in Home Ownership

Everyone admires a man who says: "It can be done," and then by his own efforts makes it a realization. Too many of us travel the road of the least resistance, fearing to undertake anything that is going to call for obligations, special efforts or sacrifices, while, as a matter of fact, everyone who has made good or who has attained success has fought for it.

There is no such thing as "It can't be done." Home Ownership is daily being made a reality by others and with home owning desires inborn in each and everyone of us, and all around us evidences of determination—families who are comfortably housed in homes of their own—with no more ability or larger earnings than you, are object lessons that reflect our own inability in making the start.

Real staple wealth is represented only in happiness and contentment, the foundation of which is real estate, on which to build a home you can call your own. And home ownership can be acquired by those with stickability and perseverance. "The postage stamp offers an object lesson—it sticks to one thing until it gets there. Sometimes it encounters difficulties but eventually its usefulness is proven by its stick-to-it-ness."

You cannot refer to a really successful man who has not acquired his real wealth by means of constant reliable efforts, and by far the majority of them started at the very bottom, and won their present proud position by applying their first saving to a lot on which to erect a home.

Buy a lot today—for it is the safest, most permanent, conservative investment you can make and even though your financial condition permits of only a small payment, it will represent a start which will eventually deliver to you the greatest amount of returns in both money and happiness that you can make. If you have a lot or have the ready means to acquire one, then start at once to improve it. The satisfaction and contentment of home ownership and the safe and sure returns will be your just reward.

A key to a home of your own awaits your determination to apply for one.

Aren't you about ready to undertake this, the greatest of earthly possessions?

If You Are Paying for a Home Why Not Own It?

—How much rent have you paid in the last ten years?

—Part of it was upkeep, interest on the landlord's investment—and part was profit. That profit would be yours if you owned your home. Now, you have a lot of rent receipts—no home.

—If you start now to build a home and let your rent money apply on the purchase price, you'll have the profit and the immediate comforts of home ownership.

—It takes a little nerve, to be sure, and perhaps you don't know as much about building values as you'd like to, and so hesitate to build.

—We will be glad to counsel with you. You can rely on us for designs to fit your family and your pocketbook and for advice on materials that will prove the most economical in the long run.

—We are equipped to give you ideas and plans on all manner of homes and REAL SERVICE in every department.

TRAFFIC INTO SOUTHLAND IS HEAVY

Thousands of Tourists in Autos Come Here From
All Over Nation

There is a greater restlessness on the part of motorists throughout America this summer than ever before in history, according to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Where are these restless motorists going, what is their aim, and why are they moving about so much? This query has been pretty well answered in data compiled at the club offices.

One reason for a nation-wide spurge among auto owners, and this applies in a large sense to southern California, is the improved condition of roads leading across the continent to the west, and leading to the national parks of the country.

Many Come Here
On an average fifty cars per day are entering California at Needles over the National Old Trails route. These cars bring an average of 200 visitors into this part of the state every day.

The Bankhead, the Lincoln Highway and other routes are delivering their quota daily. On the other hand, scores of motoring parties are leaving southern California, since the schools have been dismissed for the Yellowstone, Glacier, and Zion Canyon districts. It is a year of long distance traveling, according to Auto club official statistics.

The weather is now warm on the southern trans-continental highways, and motoring parties are advised to travel in the cool of the evening and at night if they wish to find the greatest degree of comfort. The Santa Fe Trail is in better condition for travel this year than it has ever been, particularly west of Denver. The Raton Pass has been widened and graveled and a new road has been constructed, all between Santa Fe and Las Vegas, while there are many miles of pavement north and south of the city of Albuquerque.

Travel Very Heavy
One of the club's cars has just completed a trip over the coastwise Pacific Highway from southern California to Vancouver. Travel is very heavy over this route, going both ways. Thousands of motorists are coming southward from the northwestern part of the United States this summer, as well as from Montana and Idaho. It is estimated that no matter what road eastern parties take toward the west, they will visit southern California at some time during their sojourn on the coast, as the fame of this part of the country was spread last winter to every nook and cranny of America.

FIRST TO TAX
Alberta is the first province in Canada to impose a gasoline tax.

Conduct Experiments In Motor Courtesy

Experiments in courtesy among motorists are being conducted in New York City as a means of furthering automobile education.

A safety code formulated by the automobile merchants of New York which makes it compulsory for every motorist to keep before him for thirty days a courtesy chart.

The safety bulletin, as posted, reads:

- 1—Respect the rights of pedestrians.
- 2—Cheerfully obey the traffic officer. He protects you as well as the pedestrian.
- 3—Keep to the right of the road.
- 4—When turning, begin bearing in toward turn at least a block away.
- 5—Go slowly around corners.
- 6—Give pedestrians plenty of room—if in doubt, stop.
- 7—Mutual forbearance and courtesy make friends.
- 8—Read the motor vehicle law and traffic regulations.
- 9—On slippery roads, drive with extreme care.
- 10—A child on the highway is a danger signal. Slow up and if in doubt, stop.

Travel Records Into Yosemite Are Broken

All travel records for Yosemite valley have been broken this year. According to figures received here by J. A. Waters, Southern California Camp Curry representative, from Ranger E. R. Reed, who handles statistics for the U. S. Government in the Yosemite valley, 5000 more people have visited the Yosemite valley this year than last year. So far this season 36,308 people traveled into the region. More than half of these are said to be motorists, 5899 machines having entered the valley this year as compared with 4361 last year.

Unusually low temperature that prevailed during the month of June, increased accommodations at Camp Curry that have eliminated congestion.

Bad Form to Throw Fruit at Automobiles

YUBA CITY, July 7.—Don't hurl things, even fruit, through the windshield passing cars, unless you like to be haled to court.

R. C. Spencer, driver of a fruit wagon on the highway, hurled a bunch of green grapes through the windshield of a car driven by District Attorney Arthur Coates of Yuba county. Coates likes fruit, but not served in that style, and had Spencer arrested.

Watch Vital Points In Pressure System

Gasoline pressure systems give very little trouble, but there are two places which must be constantly watched—the filling cap and the check valve on the pump. Always see that the filling cap is screwed down extra tight, and watch the pressure gauge to see if the check valve is leaking air. If it is, a few squirts of gasoline may be all that is necessary to clear it of dust.

USE CARE IN SIGNALING, IS URGED

Don't Be 'Nonchalant' in Driving, Is Plea From Automobile Club

Raring protest has been raised by a chorus of conscientious auto owners in this part of the state against the practice of "false" hand signals, and this protest has been registered with the Auto Club of Southern California.

It has to do with the nonchalant driver who debonairly flicks the ashes off his cigar or cigarette with an airy wave of the hand, thus giving the impression that he is signaling for a right or left-hand turn.

"Don't be so 'nonchalant' in your ash-flicking, asks the auto club, in order to avoid confusion on the highways this summer.

Watch Your Children!

If there are children riding in the car, it is suggested that the parents keep them from waving their arms out or giving false signals, as many near accidents have been caused by this act on the part of the little one.

It is pointed out that the driver of a car should remember that "the man behind" is looking carefully to notice any indication of

Harry E. White, Back From East, Boosts City

Harry E. White, Reo distributor for the San Fernando valley, who has returned from a business trip east where he held conferences with prominent executives and learned the real facts about conditions. Incidentally, he boosted Glendale everywhere he went. The lower picture shows Mr. White's big plant on the San Fernando road at Brand boulevard. Mr. White says that in the east Glendale and Southern California are looked upon as the most prosperous spots in the country.

Reo Distributor for San Fernando Valley Visits Factories and Gets Facts On Business Conditions Elsewhere

By MERRILL D. DAVIS
Of The Evening News Staff

FOLLOWERS of Babson, nationally prominent financial genius, who reports through his pamphlets and leaflets the ups and downs of the nation's business, and who is accepted by many as absolute authority on things financial, no doubt have noticed that for many months past his maps have pictured Glendale, Los Angeles and Southern California as the one big white spot of prosperity.

Just how this spot will maintain its color and continue to enlarge its circumference was pointed out this morning, by Harry E. White, Reo distributor for San Fernando valley.

Mr. White recently returned from a business visit to the east, where, after familiarizing himself with conditions there, he has returned home more enthused than ever, and full of pep and go over business prospects locally.

"When I told hard-headed business men back there that Glendale only had a few thousand people four years ago and that now she is a thriving city of better than 40,000 inhabitants, they would not believe me," said Mr. White. "But just the same," he said, "that statement made its impression, and when I explained the 'why' they were convinced."

Continue to Increase

"Glendale and Southern California," Mr. White declared, "are looked upon as one of the most prosperous sections in the country. This condition of prosperity will not only be maintained, but will continue to increase its size, and the reason is that in every town, village and hamlet in the country there is some one in that town who is planning on coming to California, and that of course means Southern California."

"People go to Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, New York and to any one of a dozen or more cities in as many different states, for business and pleasure, but when it comes to settling down, establishing a permanent home, they have Southern California in mind," asserted Mr. White.

"It naturally follows," he averred, "that many of them are going to want automobiles, and that is where we come in. The visit to the automobile factories in the east has demonstrated how we can fulfill the demand."

Visits Reo Factory

Mr. White was one of forty-five Southern California and Arizona Reo dealers who made up a special party for a personal visit to the Reo factory at Lansing, Mich.

Other factories in the states comprising the center of the auto-

Follow What They Say
To Avoid Trouble

One of the most frequent pleas made by motorists passing through small towns and getting arrested for speeding is: "Oh, I didn't see the sign giving the speed limit!" It is reported by court officials.

This business of reading the road signs is very, very important to all motorists, whether they be traveling in California or coming across the continent to the west. Motoring organizations, notably the Auto Club of Southern California, have spent millions of dollars in putting up road signs, not only guiding the motorist hither and yon, but also indicating the legal speed limit in various sections of the country.

These signs are not put up just for the fun of doing something, point out authorities. And, furthermore, they are all placed in a regular manner and any plea of ignorance of them or failure to see them is laughed at by municipal courts.

Ignorance of the road signs is just the same as ignorance of the

California Leads in Sales of Automobiles

California would seem to be far outstripping the far East this year in the marketing of automobiles at retail if the figures from New York setting forth the sales of new passenger cars in the metropolitan district be any criterion of the business being done east of the Alleghenies.

The so-called metropolitan district embraces not only the five boroughs of Greater New York—New York, Bronx, Kings, Queens, and Richmond—but the adjoining New York state counties of Westchester, Suffolk, Nassau and Putnam.

Incidentally the population of this metropolitan district is fully 2,000,000 more than that of the entire state of California, so a comparison of totals as well as gains will also be interesting. It will place California far ahead in sales totals as well as gains.

In May 12,279 new passenger cars were sold in the metropolitan districts as compared with 9428 during the corresponding month last year, a gain of 2841, or 34 per cent. The California figures for May were 22,594, an increase of $506, or 60 per cent gain. California's sales were 12,279 more than those of the metropolitan district, or 84 per cent greater than the business done in Greater New York.

Total sales in the metropolitan district for the first five months of 1923 were 39,776 new passenger cars, an increase over 1922 of 9,279, a gain of 32 per cent. California's sales during this period aggregated 94,047, though in all fairness it must not be forgotten that California with its all year-round business really had the advantage of more than two good selling months, January and February, and a part of March, being New York's winter, and, of course, poorest selling months.

Choice of Auto Tube Vital to Motorist

How do you buy an auto tube—as a merely necessary and somewhat incidental accessory or as a part of the tire as vital as the casing? Upon the motorist's answer to this question depends in large part the degree of his freedom from tire troubles. The car owner courts trouble when he buys tubes carelessly.

Leaky tubes ruin millions of tires annually through under inflation. Ordinarily the motorist blames the casings for troubles for which his tubes are almost entirely responsible. On the other hand, good tubes enable a tire to deliver the maximum mileage which the maker built into it.

MANY NEW BRIDGES

Since 1916 more than thirty miles of bridges have been built under the federal aid highway program. One of the largest of these bridges, that from Mandan to Bismarck, N. D., is more than three and one-half miles long and cost $1,428,000.

NEW MOTOR LAWS ARE PRAISED

Motor Vehicle Chief Waxes Eloquent Over Work of Legislature

By WILL H. MARSH
(Chief of Division Motor Vehicles)

California's Legislature is to be commended and California's motorists are to be congratulated for the forward looking motor vehicle legislation enacted during the forty-fifth session just ended.

California, which has always been regarded as being advanced in its motor vehicle legislation, has taken another long stride as a result of this splendid legislative program. A radical change has been made in the method of collecting revenue for the maintenance of California's extensive highway system. Four means of raising the revenue have been devised in three important measures which have been placed upon the statutes now the signature of Governor Richardson has been affixed. These are represented by the Breed bills, known as Senate bills Nos. 743 and 744, containing provisions for a flat fee of $3 per registration and a gas tax of 2 cents per gallon. The Breed bill, No. 743, also carries a weight fee schedule covering all commercial vehicles.

The fourth measure for raising revenue is contained in the Davala measure, which provides for a gross receipts tax of four per cent to be collected from the operators of motor busses.

The State's Need

Figures obtained from the California Highway Commission indicate that an amount of $16,000,000 will be necessary for the proper maintenance of California's highway system during the next year and $18,000,000 will be needed for the following year.

Through the four systems devised, it is contemplated, these amounts will be reached. In fixing upon these bases proper claim is made that one vehicle registered, assigned plates and given a proper record in the division of motor vehicles in the state of California costs as much as does another. The gas tax appears to be a most correct theory as to the metering of the vehicle on the highways. The gas tax fixes a collection basis on the theory that the one who drives most pays most, which appears to be sound in principle and practical of administration.

The division of motor vehicles will be charged with the responsibility of making the registrations, keeping the records of all machines and making the collections.

UNCLE SAM INVITES YOU TO VISIT HIS NATIONAL FORESTS

Millions Of Acres Set Aside For Public Use; Be Sure And Get Acquainted With Rangers

Have Valves Reground After Each 2000 Miles

It is not good policy to see how long the valves will hold compression without grinding. They should be attended to at least every 2000 miles, whether the compression is leaking or not. Especially is this true with the exhaust valves. If they are neglected too long they become deeply pitted, and then it is a long job to grind them into good condition again. In fact, if neglected too long, it may be necessary to install new valves.

UNCLE SAM has thrown open his great playgrounds to you—to every man with an automobile. He invites you to drop your work, to come and play—come and enjoy real life—to spend a real vacation in his national forests. From the Rockies to the Pacific, from Canada to Mexico he has set aside millions of acres of forest land for your recreation. Wonderful mountain roads have been built where steep trails have lead, to carry you pleasure bound where you would go. Recreation of every kind is there to await your pleasure—fishing, hunting, swimming or just plain camping. Where can you spend so wonderful an outing as in these natural playgrounds?

Here you may take your car loaded with camping equipment, far into the mountains and stay as long as you like, and all that

Uncle Sam asks of you in return is that you aid him in keeping his parks clean and sanitary and be careful with your campfires. When you go to the mountains it is well to stop the first forest ranger you meet and learn from him what Uncle Sam expects of you while in his woodlands. Get acquainted with these soldiers of the forest, you'll find them to be fine fellows, ever ready to give you first-hand information. Ask them where to find the best place to fish, to hunt, or to camp, and you may be sure they will give you information and gladly tell you where to go to have the most enjoyable vacation.

Be Shown How
Let a forest ranger show you how to build and extinguish your campfire. He will show you how to bank it and keep it from spreading; he will tell you to never build your fire between two logs, where every little gust of wind will send the sparks scattering; to build it in the open and bank it with rocks if they are procurable. This not only serves as a means to keep your fire from blowing about, but is a valuable asset to your cooking. Pinch the head of a burned match before throwing it away, be careful of hot ashes from your cigar or pipe—many are the warnings he will give you about care with your fire.

The forest ranger always looks with approval upon the camper with a gasoline stove or gasoline lantern, as there is little chance of a fire of any nature originating from such a device. The camping department of the Western Auto Supply Company offers many improvements in the way of modern stoves to use on a camping trip. The gasoline stove is ever gaining in popularity. An entire meal may be prepared on one of these additions in the time that it ordinarily takes to gather firewood. For the camper who insists on using a wood fire a small stove or grid is provided with an attached oven for baking purposes.

Lighting Problem
The lighting problem is easily solved by a gasoline lamp with rays of sufficient strength to light the entire camp. Of all the additions to the modern camping equipment the gasoline lantern is probably one of the most useful. Many campers have conceived the idea that such a device is a nuisance, as the mantles break and new ones must be applied every time the lamp is used. This impression is wrong, however, for if the lantern is packed in its original box and enclosed with the bedding, the mantles will last for months.

With so many modern improvements in camping supplies today, it is small wonder that each year finds thousands of motorists paying the national forest reserves a visit during the vacation months.

MANY MOTORS SHIPPED

More than $22,000 freight loads of automobiles, motor trucks and automobile parts were shipped over the railroads of the country last year. This volume of rail business is the third largest among all manufactures.

LONG TRIP EASY FOR STUDEBAKER

Light Six Covers 7000 Miles Without Repairs or Adjustments

Seven thousand miles without any repair bills or adjustments is the record just made by a 1921 model Light Six Studebaker, owned and driven by Daniel Hunsberger, 412 West California, well-known plumbing contractor, who has just returned from a trip to the eastern seaboard. Mr. Hunsberger left Glendale on April 30, going east over the Santa Fe trail, Needles, Albuquerque, N. M., Trinidad, Colo., Kansas City, Mo., Wheeling, W. Va., and Baltimore, making his headquarters in Philadelphia, from where he toured over Pennsylvania with his friends.

The return trip was made by way of Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, and the Pike's Peak highway to Colorado, Springs, where he struck back into the same route he had followed going east. The eastern trip took sixteen days, and the return journey was made in fifteen days. Mr. Hunsberger reaching Glendale on July 3, with the original air in two of his tires and a perfect score for the car throughout the entire run.

In Missouri he encountered some hot weather and some rain and mud, but the car kept slogging along without difficulty, averaging seventeen miles to the gallon of gasoline and 330 miles to the quart of oil. The stiff climbs over the Raton pass in New Mexico and the Oatman grade in Arizona were made in high gear.

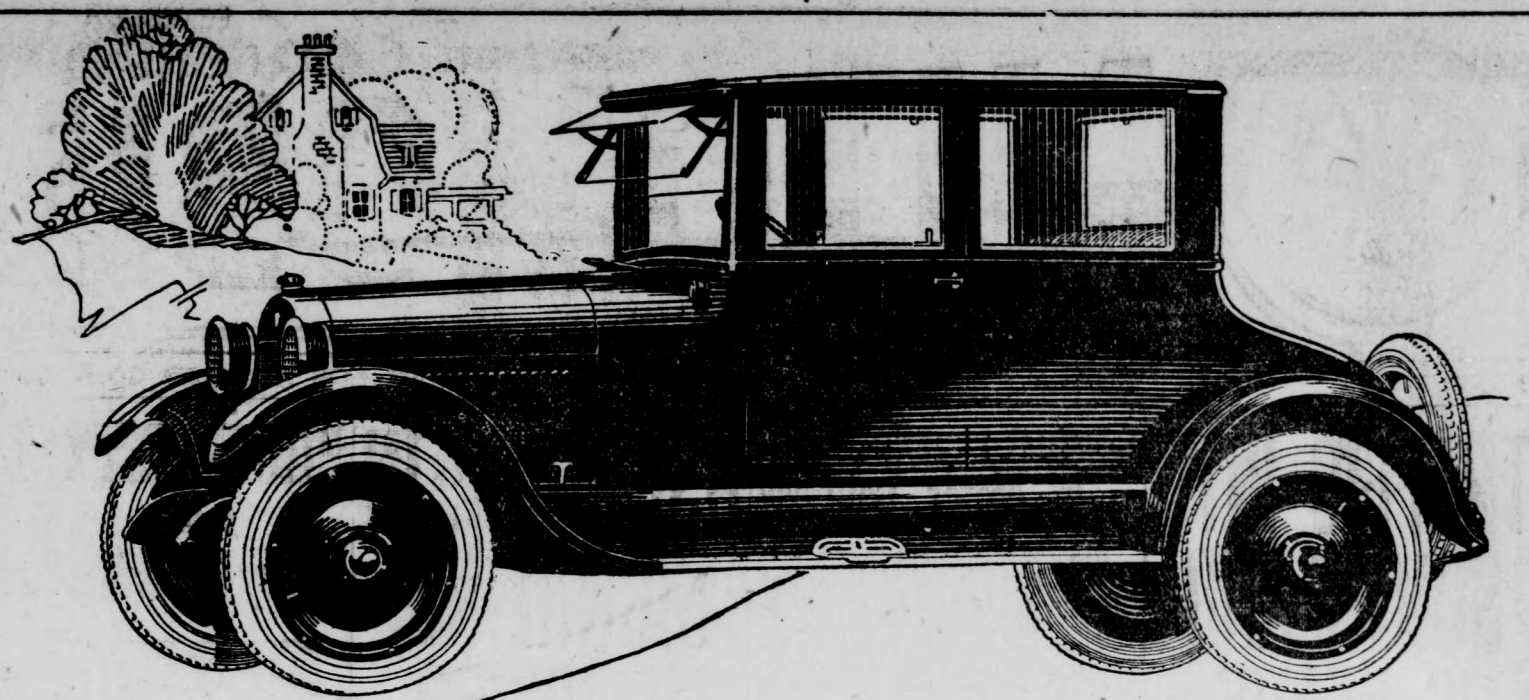

The roads on the eastern run were good and the return trip showed very few difficulties, and of the volume of traffic encountered on the highways of the country ninety per cent is headed for California, Mr. Hunsberger found.

Prospects for Ford Tractors To Be Smith's Guests At Power Show

That a large number of local farmers and business men will take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the National Power and Transportation Show to be held in Los Angeles during the week of July 15 to 22, inclusive, to make a study of the Fordson tractor and the many power appliances to be used with it, is the statement of Jesse E. Smith, 125 West Colorado, Ford dealer.

Already Mr. Smith has made arrangements to take several men in for this big exposition, and before the show opens he expects to make the representation a record-breaking delegation.

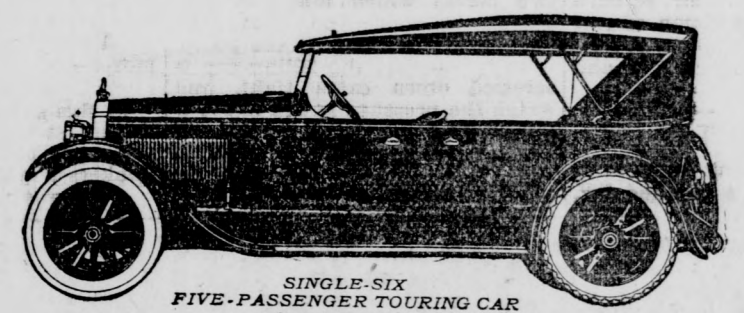

The show this year is the second in a series which promises to become annual events.

It will be held on show grounds located on Wilshire boulevard, just west of Rogers airport, and across the street from Carthy Center, in Los Angeles, and will be open from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. every day.

In addition to the exhibit of Fordson tractors and Ford trucks by the Ford Motor Company, there will be exhibits from sixty of the largest manufacturers of power, transportation and agricultural machinery and equipment in the country.

All of these implements, haulage units and power devices will be operated by Fordson tractors, which will be shown solving the power problems of contractors, road builders, railroad transfer men, miners, oil operators, lumber mills, irrigation projects as well as ranchers, fruit growers and farmers.

The demonstrations will be under the direct supervision of expert engineers who will be ready to answer any and all questions which may be asked of them. The Michigan naval reserves. Mr. Drake has represented the motor interests in the United States for a number of years as a director of the United States Chamber of Commerce, director of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and director of the American Manufacturers' Export association and the National Foreign Trade Council.

HARRY E. WHITE BACK FROM TRIP

Reo Distributor Tells of Business Conditions in Different Sections

The forty-five Californians and Arizonans remained three days in Detroit. Officers and directors representing some of the largest concerns associated with the manufacture of automobiles were interviewed and a very clear insight as to the future plans of the producer and what he expects for the 1923 season was secured.

Plenty of Employment
Detroit is a busy city, declared Mr. White, and is growing by leaps and bounds. A very noticeable difference in building activities was discernible as compared with last year and now, he said. Buildings of every kind and description are under course of construction and there is employment for everyone at top wages. Incidentally wages in Detroit are about twenty per cent higher than last year.

After completing their visit to the various factories of Detroit the party broke up to wend their way home at will. Mr. White continued east to Cleveland, Ohio, where he inspected the shops and factory of the Cleveland Tractor Company, manufacturers of the Cietrac tractor, for which he is San Fernando distributor.

The plant is being constantly enlarged and running on capacity production, according to Mr. White. The last important stop was at Toledo, where the plant of the Banting Manufacturing Company was visited.

This concern confines itself to the production of threshing machines and power farm machinery of all kinds. Like plants previously visited, the Banting factory was running at top speed and enthusiastic over prospects for future business.

One of the most noticeable things on the entire trip, Mr. White declared, was the intense interest displayed by those with whom he came in contact, in Glendale and Southern California. Without exception, Mr. White answered their questions, boosted his home town and state, but wound up by saying, "We've got a great state, we need you, there's lots of opportunity, but—remember this—we work 365 days in the year."

Tires puncture more easily when not properly inflated.

CHEVROLET SETS SHIPPING RECORD

Oakland Plant Delivers Cars By Train and Drive-Away To Calif. Dealers

Establishing the greatest output record in its history, the Chevrolet plant at Oakland on Monday, June 25, shipped to Chevrolet dealers 373 passenger automobiles, according to figures quoted by C. L. Smith, Chevrolet dealer, Orange and Colorado streets.

Shipments from the big Oakland factory were made both by rail and a series of big dealers' drive-aways. The rail shipment, during this one day, included seventy-five solid carloads of passenger cars going to the various dealer organizations throughout the entire Pacific Coast region.

A notable feature was the big dealers' drive-away of closed models. During the period from 9 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. seventy-six closed models, including Sedans, Sedettes and Utility Coupes, were driven away from the plant by dealers in the coast territory. Another unusual feature of this day's big business was the fact that of the total shipments for this day, 163 Sedans and forty-two Utility Coupes were included.

The increasing popularity of closed cars was conclusively demonstrated by the great percentage of closed models included in the carload shipments from the factory, and another evidence of the widespread and increasing demand for closed models is to be found in the fact that all of the drive-aways from the Oakland plant were closed models.

Out here in the Pacific Coast territory all Chevrolet dealers are experiencing a great deal of difficulty in securing sufficient cars to supply the demand, and in many instances dealers have orders booked for from sixty to ninety days in advance of the manufacturing schedule.

NEW MOTOR LAWS ARE COMMENDED

Motor Vehicle Chief Waxes Eloquent Over Work of Legislation

under the flat fee and weight schedules.

The board of equalization will make the collection from the source of gasoline supply under the gas tax bill, and the latter will also make the collection from the motor busses under the Duval bill.

The estimated revenue under the various provisions for the forthcoming year are subdivided as follows:

Collections from gas tax, $11,000,000; collections from the flat fee provisions of motor vehicle registrations, $3,300,000; collections from weight schedules, $1,200,000; collections from gross tax receipts, $500,000.

Aside from the radical departure in the system of collection of revenue, Breed bill No. 743 carries numerous outstanding features, chief among which may be cited the duplicate certificate provisions. This action provides for a certificate of registration and a certificate of ownership, the first being for identification purposes only and to be carried in the vehicle, while the second goes to the legal owner and is the instrument upon which all transfers of title and interest are made.

The traffic problem, which has been in a chaotic condition since the recent decision of the Supreme Court, which declared the employment of traffic officers under the county government act illegal, has been taken care of in a section which permits boards of supervisors to enter into a contract with the division of motor vehicles for the employment of all officers necessary for the enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Act. The bill provides that upon the submission of a list of eligibles from each of the counties, the chief of the division, in his discretion, may make the necessary selections. The compensation of such traffic officers in any particular county is to be paid out of the motor vehicle collections apportioned to the respective counties. It is expressly provided that these traffic officers and inspectors shall be exempted from civil service provisions.

New For Old
The Breed bill authorizes the department to assign new numbers when old numbers become mutilated or obliterated.

It authorizes stations on the state boundary line. The measure requires persons running private garages to give notice of such fact to the local authorities within twenty-four hours.

It requires public garages to keep record of every motor vehicle stored therein, same at all times to be open to the inspection of peace officers.

The new law exempts persons in the military service in the United States from requiring a chauffeur's license.

It requires minors' applications for operator's license to be signed by both parents, and fixes an age limit for operators at fourteen years; for chauffeurs transporting property at sixteen years; for chauffeurs transporting persons, eighteen years, and for chauffeurs driving school busses twenty-one years.

The Breed bill makes it a misdemeanor to drive when license has been suspended or revoked, and fixes a penalty for violation of from five to ninety days in jail with no fine alternative.

The lighting provisions of the old bill have been materially strengthened and made enforceable.

Post Regulations
Municipalities are required to post signs covering speeding and other regulations.

Many additional and numerous changes are provided concerning "Rules of the Road," and same are made applicable to city and county municipal vehicles.

The driver of any vehicle involved in an accident resulting in injury or death to any person is required to make a report in writing to the local authorities, containing the time and place of the accident and full particulars.

It requires persons dropping injurious or destructive matter in the highway to remove the same immediately.

Any person found tampering with or injuring a vehicle, under the new measure, is deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Form Habit of Reading Signs, Warning Posts

get lost on little traveled highways every month, and then have no one to blame but themselves. There is no longer any section of Southern California which is not marked by the correct kind of road signs.

Believe in Signs
Arrangements have been completed by the club for the marking of every travelable highway in this part of the country, beginning with San Diego and Imperial counties on the south, and going north to San Luis Obispo county.

Get the sign-reading habit! When you buy a newspaper or a magazine, you buy it to read, and the same holds true with official road signs. They are put up to be read, and they are bought by the motorists who belong to the motoring clubs.

How Jewett Sales have Mounted Month by Month

Why Jewett Six Succeeds Like This

Look at Jewett's sales success; the chart tells the story. What made it possible?

No sales genius could have put this over. Nothing but startling quality, and performance at the price, could have done it. There are plenty of average satisfactory quality cars around Jewett's price, yet look at Jewett's first 17 months! Why? Why? Surely it is wise to learn of Jewett's qualities before you buy any car.

First, Jewett offers a powerful, sturdy Six at the cost of a Four. Jewett is the only car in the thousand dollar class built by a maker of highest quality cars at $2000 and upwards. The Paige-built Jewett Six is a Paige-designed product through and through. Paige-built motor, Paige-type clutch and transmission, Paige-Timken axles, Paige ball-bearing steering spindles, Paige high-pressure oiling system.

Paige performance—the ability to pass most any car on any hill—the pick-up of 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds in high gear—the flexibility to go 2 to 60 miles an hour in high gear—are characteristics of the Jewett which have won it friends everywhere. And Jewett, like the Paige, is easy riding in spite of its moderate size. It rides easily because its springs are 80 per cent of its wheelbase, because it is a stoutly constructed car—200 pounds heavier—and will not bounce around. Jewett handles as no car ever handled before, because it has but 11½ lbs. weight for every horsepower. You do not realize how powerful Jewett is compared with average cars until you raise the hood. Jewett's fifty horsepower motor fills the hood. You cannot imagine an emergency which such a car would not out-manuever.

A ten-minute ride in a Jewett, with your own hands on the wheel, will tell you more than all the engineering facts or sales records in the world. You're welcome to drive the Jewett whenever you want—as far as you want—to prove to yourself the Jewett Six is not only the dominating car in the thousand-dollar class, but so fine a car that few need to pay more.

CADILLAC HEADS
HARDING PARADE

Eighty Open Models Used to Transport Party in St. Louis Streets

In what is considered one of the important utterances of his administration, an address on the subject of the world court, President Harding spoke to patriotic throngs at the Coliseum in St. Louis, June 21, on the completion of the first stage of his journey to Alaska.

Upon arrival at the Missouri metropolis earlier in the day, the presidential party, including President and Mrs. Harding, was placed in cars to head a parade over a seven-mile route to the downtown section.

The cavalcade of motor cars, stretching over five and one-half city blocks, was composed of eighty open model Cadillacs, all of which were decorated with red, white and blue pampas plumes and poppies. Headlamps carried silk flags and the folded tons of the cars were covered with American flags in the place of top envelopes, according to an account of the affair received by W. H. Court, 235 South Brand, Cadillac agent. The president's carriage was a gray Cadillac touring car with hood and radiator banked high with roses. It was driven by A. L. O'Neil, an overseas veteran, in uniform.

Ten veteran Studebaker cars, every one of them showing a mileage of at least 50,000, started on Thursday for an economy and reliability run to Huntington Lake, the drivers and members of the various organizations going as the guests of the Paul G. Hoffman Company of Los Angeles, Southern California distributors. In the list is a 1919 Special Six Studebaker, entered by the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand, that has already covered 63,000 miles, driven by Morris Walker, shop foreman. Stephen C. Packer, head of the company, goes in another car to act as observer.

At Fresno the southern dealers will be met by another group of ten cars from the northern region, under the leadership of Chester N. Weaver, San Francisco dealer, and his organization, and from that point to Huntington Lake the trip will be made with all the twenty cars traveling in a body.

The Paul G. Hoffman company has offered a cup to the southern agent whose car shows the greatest degree of economy, and another cup will be awarded to the team rolling up the highest number of points in the run. The southern fleet includes five Big Sixes, three Special Sixes and two Light Sixes.

BUICK WINS OUT
IN STIFF GRIND

Rough Roads Fail to Halt Glendale Driver's Car On Journey East

Buick merit won another ardent testimonial this week in a letter that was received by Tanner &amp; Hall, Ltd., 237 South Brand, local agents, when Joseph F. Geiler, 1336 East Wilson, wrote from Cincinnati, Ohio, to tell of his arrival there after traversing roads through Kansas, Missouri and Illinois that tried the stamina of his car to the limit. The roads in Indiana, he states, were somewhat better, but from the time he left Glendale 125 miles behind him he encountered heavy going all along the route.

He was held up at Colorado Springs for two days on account of rains having washed out many places on the road, but he refused to stop longer, although many other motorists were hung up for five days, fearing to buck the ruined highways in their cars. The entire distance of 2,729 miles was covered with 145 gallons of gasoline with the car and its occupants weighing 4,600 pounds, and no grade was too steep or detour too long or tiresome to daunt the Buick.

Thirteen days were consumed on the roads, which are crowded with tourists from every state, and the percentage of Buick encountered on the nation's highways was a surprising thing, even to a Buick fan.

The sales of Buicks around Cincinnati, he writes, are reaching enormous figures, and he finds the car holding its place strongly in the favor of every owner he met.

N-DURANCE ESSEX
MAKES 14TH TRIP

Driver Gets Second Wind in Steady Grind Between L. A. and Big Bear

After fourteen round trips from Los Angeles to Big Bear and return in fourteen consecutive days, the N-Durance Essex is still running as well as ever. Charlie Holdson (Endurance Charlie) declares that he is gaining weight and feeling better every day. The first four or five days of this first round trip were the hardest for him to bear, but as soon as his muscles became accustomed to the constant swinging of the wheel, he settled down to what might be termed his "second wind."

Mr. Holdson reports to the Kelley Motor Co., 223 North Brand boulevard, local Essex dealers, that the roads are in good shape. Charlie is enthusiastic over them, having been used to more rough going than anything encountered in the San Bernardino Mountains. To the novice, however, the roads seem to go up and down as much as forward. Starting from San Bernardino at an elevation of 1,100 feet above the sea level, the road quickly rises through Waterman Canyon to 4800 at the summit.

A comparatively level stretch runs from the summit to Lake Arrowhead, where the barometer registers 5000 feet. From Arrowhead to Big Bear, several grades are encountered where low gear is necessary. It is harder to travel from Big Bear to Arrowhead than it is in the opposite direction, for the grades are steeper and the road is rough in spots, making traction difficult.

From Big Bear to Redlands, the down trip is again easier than the up trip. Dust is getting heavy on the tan-baked slopes of Clark's grade, and ceaseless travel keeps it stirred up. Fine dusts become filled with fine dust that flows like water, seeking its level and splashing when the car wheels hit it. This causes motorists who are not looking for this condition to get jolted unmercifully.

MAXWELL DRIVER
FREE FROM CARE

Thirty and One-Half Miles Per Gallon Is Record On Northern Trip

Thirty and one-half miles to the gallon of gasoline is the record shown by the Maxwell driver over a stretch of 3,541 miles up through Washington and Oregon into British Columbia and back by A. S. Formoe, 401 West Dryden, who has just returned from his vacation trip. Much of the route, he declares, lay over roads that can only be described as execrable, but the Maxwell never faltered for a moment and he never saw the inside of a repair shop from the day he left, June 1, until he rolled into the Glendale Motor Car Company's salesroom at 124 West Colorado and showed off his car to Lyman P. Clark, local distributor. All of the tires on Mr. Formoe's car have covered over 16,000 miles each and are still good for many more miles.

During the entire trip, he declares, he enjoyed himself to the limit, and his ability to do so was largely due to the freedom from care that he experienced in driving the Maxwell, which is the first of this make he has owned, having bought it this year.

This trip has turned Mr. Formoe into an enthusiastic Maxwell fan, but Mr. Clark maintains that he is only one of thousands, and before the summer season is over he expects to have many other accounts of the golden opinions that the sturdy Maxwell has made this year.

KENNEDY VISITS
BOYHOOD SCENES

1500 Mile Trip Over Rough Roads Easy for Sturdy Willys-Knight Car

Back from a 1,500-mile trip in a Willys-Knight car that had already 23,000 miles to its credit, Harry C. Kennedy, sales manager of Smith-Sloan, Inc., 223 South Brand, is a bigger booster for the Willys-Overland line than ever. The car he drove, and which carried five passengers and their luggage over the greater part of the trip, had been traded in the night before he started, and no opportunity was given him to make any adjustments on it, but the car behaved splendidly all through the roughest roads in California, especially in Calaveras county, where Mr. Kennedy went to revisit the scenes of his childhood, and never called for the least repairs or adjustments.

At Angel's Camp, where he spent his boyhood, Mr. Kennedy was able to stand on the back porch of the house he was staying in and drop a line into the creek, hauling out enough trout to make breakfast for the party within a few minutes.

One of the things that struck him most forcibly was the comparison between the camp as he had known it years ago and its condition today. Then, it boasted twenty-three saloons and dance halls and gambling joints along the main street, but today all of these old landmarks are empty and deserted.

STUDEBAKER

The Studebaker Light-Six

was designed by Studebaker engineers and is a masterpiece of design and engineering. The South Bend Plants contain 4,875,000 square feet of floor space. They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000. The South Bend Forge Plant cost $4,000,000, which alone is more than the total assets of many automobile companies.

And then there are: The machine shops which cost $7,000,000. The stamping plant which cost $4,000,000. The new foundries which will cost over $2,000,000. The power plants which cost $2,500,000.

The assembly and stock plants which cost $5,000,000, as well as closed and open body plants, spring shops, etc.

Studebaker plants, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants.

Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world.

These facts show why it is possible for Studebaker to produce the Light-Six—a truly remarkable car—and sell it for less than a thousand dollars.

In actual car value per dollar of price the Light-Six is in a class by itself. No prospective buyer of an automobile should decide on anything until he has seen and driven this car.

It is backed by a corporation with $85,000,000 of actual assets and a 71-year reputation for honest product and fair dealing.

Vast Resources Make Possible High Value at Low Price in Studebaker Light-Six

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

The Corporation's resources, consisting of $85,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1,000, that is emphatically superior in design, construction, performance, comfort and dependability, to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other cars have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

Mud and dirt which become clogged in the cells of a radiator not only prevent the air from passing through, but also stop the heat from radiating, thus cutting down the capacity. A difficult case of overheating is sometimes found to be due to mud and dirt alone.

An overcharged battery may be detected by its warm condition and gassing (bubbling) freely.

The small pipe inside the radiator, with an opening near the filler cap, is an overflow pipe. It is placed there to allow excess water to escape when the radiator becomes too full, due to expansion of the water when it gets hot.

Driving a car with loose wheels will cause excessive wear. Backlash noises, vibrations and rattles will quickly develop.

TODAY—L. A. Bans Bicycle Cops; Police Department Expands. MONDAY—Radio Bug Bites Mexico; Big Demand for "Sets." By Webb C. Artz, San Antonio correspondent.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The old-time traffic policeman mounted majestically on a fine, well-kept horse may soon be a thing of the past in Los Angeles. Instead, the officers may be deprived of their hobnobs, doff their boots, spurs and leather leggings for low shoes and golf stockings and straddle bicycles, from which they would seek to relieve the traffic jams, if plans of President Criswell, of the City Council, are carried out.

In a recent round with the council budget committee, Chief of Police Oaks requested an appropriation of $3,500 for the purchase of twenty additional horses for his mounted squad. President Criswell objected.

"I don't know about that," Criswell said. "In Philadelphia, Brooklyn, New York, Baltimore and other large cities I've visited recently I saw many of policemen on bicycles.

"They wore golf stockings to obtain freedom of leg movement," Criswell declared, "and pedaled all over the street."

"When they would see a traffic jam they would jump on their bicycles and get in the middle of the street and break up the congestion. After they had finished they would stride their bicycles and go looking for other trouble. It seemed to work fine and would be less expensive to the city."

Councilman Mallard said he didn't think much of the idea, and besides he would not vote to put the officers on bicycles and make them appear ridiculous. "A policeman on horseback commands attention," Councilman Mallard argued. "There is only one trouble about the horses, though. They draw too much attention from the girls. The flappers feed them candy and a horse always recognizes a person who has fed him sweets when he sees her. But bicycle police for Los Angeles—never!"

Chief of Police L. D. Oaks sided with Mallard and said he didn't approve of the bicycle plan. For purposes of further investigation the matter was delayed.

The committee also took under consideration the request of Chief Oaks for the purchase of sixty light and three heavy automobiles to answer "hurry calls." The chief outlined a new policy of establishing small police stations, under which every fire station in the city would also provide a precinct police headquarters and from which automobiles would be operated on both district patrol and calls. The chief declared he hoped to have the plan in operation soon.

The committee virtually agreed to an increase of the Los Angeles police force of 350 patrolmen for the coming fiscal year, starting July 1. The additional patrolmen will be assigned in the department by additions of fifty monthly, beginning this month. An addition of 150 officers to the local force was made recently.

Councilman Mallard said he didn't think much of the idea, and besides he would not vote to put

BILLY WALKER
67 FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"We were driving slowly down the side of a mountain," continued Stubby in his story of his experiences. "From which I had had an extensive view of the canal, the Pacific Ocean and Panama, when who should I see but you, Billy, and an old goat walking down the road in front of us. And I instantly made up my mind to jump out and surprise you when I came up to you. But I never shall forget the look on your face when you stepped to the side of the road to let us pass and you were admiring the handsome turn-out when your eyes fell on me. Stubby, your dirty traveling companion now the stylish dog with a crimson bow on his neck. I had to ride by a few feet to enjoy your surprise before I jumped out. I waited until my mistress was busy bowing to some friends, and her head was turned toward them. Then I leaped out and ran under some bushes by the roadside, and waited for you to come along.

"Now you know what I have been doing, and I should like to hear what you have been up to." "I'll tell you, but first let me introduce you to my new friend who informs me his name is Alphonso Columbus Balboa Stratsenhansen."

"And how does it happen?" asked Stubby. "That your friend has three Spanish names with a German last one?"

"That is what many people have wondered," said the old goat. "You see my master was a great admirer of world-renowned persons, so he first gave me the name whose name is Alphonso. And as I wish to do honor to the living as well as to the dead, I christen you Alphonso Columbus Balboa Stratsenhansen Romero. And with that he threw a cup of water over me to christen me."

(Monday you will hear the end of Stubby's life of ease.)

CHASSIS SPRING RATTLES

Occasional Adjustment and Consistent Lubrication Will Minimize The springs are the commonest source of irregular rattling noises; lost motion at their ends, due to worn shackles and their bushings, and sideways motion of the spring ends between shackles, being the usual causes. To bring out and locate these noises, pump the tires extra hard, drive the car over a rough-surfaced road and have someone ride on the running board, who can move about and determine which ends of which springs are doing the rattling. After locating the points which require attention, first see if the noise cannot be stopped by adjusting for side-play. This is done by means of the threaded shackles. Where a spring end is supported directly upon the frame, side-play is usually taken up simply by tightening up on the bolt, which pinches the hanger together enough so that the spring has no side motion within it, the operation being to remove the cotter pin, hold the head of the bolt with a wrench and screw the nut on until it is tight, then back it off a small fraction of a turn to insure freedom of motion and replace the cotter pin. At shackle-spring ends the bolt is usually threaded in the shackle-plate next

A CASE OF CHRONIC OVERHEATING

C. F. P. writes: For about a year past the engine of my car has been overheating. I have checked up the carburetor, ignition, water circulation, the condition of the bearings, and everything I know of that could have a bearing on this heating, but cannot locate the trouble. Can you give me any assistance?

Answer: If the engine becomes very hot, without there being boiling in the radiator (which we say nothing about the loss of water by ebullition), this is one of the instances in which there is no excess of heat developed, but in which the radiator fails to receive the heat developed in the jacket in a sufficient degree to hold down engine temperature. These cases are practically always attributable to obstructed circulation and, if your engine becomes very hot without much water being boiled away, we advise you to look further for obstructions in the path of water circulation. You do not state whether yours is a pump or

Timely Views of World Topics

"FRANCE WILL HOLD RUHR UNTIL GERMAN PAY." "We intend to hold our hands at Germany's throat until the German people come to their senses." This is the emphatic declaration of Gaston Liebert, former French Consul General at New York and now director of the French Bureau of Information in the United States.

"We went into the Ruhr," he said recently, "because the Ruhr is the jugular vein of Germany, and we intend to hold our hand at Germany's throat until the German people come to their senses. We want to make it clear, however, that Belgium and French troops are not in the Ruhr to make war on the German people. They are there to act as receivers to collect an honest debt from a stubborn, dishonest and evasive debtor."

He compared the German attitude in 1919-23 with the French attitude in 1871-73, drawing a sharp distinction between the nature of payments in the two instances.

"France Paid Big Indemnity" "Following the war of 1871," he said, "France was compelled to pay no reparations, not for damage done German people or German property—because the war of 1871, like the war of 1914-18 had been fought on French soil—but France was compelled to pay

5,000,000,000 gold francs indemnity, a penalty for being the vanquished. The just debt which we have for four years been trying to collect from Germany is not an indemnity, it is a claim for actual damages wrought by German troops on French and Belgian soil. "After the conference of Frankfurt, Germany insisted that 5,000,000,000 gold francs, imposed upon the French as a penalty for being the vanquished people, should be paid before the end of 1874. His- tory records that the last franc of this great sum, together with conversion charges and other expenses which brought the total amount up to 6,515,000,000 gold francs, had been paid by August 31, 1873. "Now, after four years, Germany, untouched by war invasion, with her factories and industries producing as they were before the war has only paid about 2,000,000,000 gold marks in cash. "The answer, and the only answer is that if Germany had shown a real willingness to pay, if Germany had been as strictly honest as France was, there would have been found a way, and the troops of France and Belgium would not today be in the Ruhr to act as receivers to collect an honest debt. "Situation Affects World's Business." As long as present conditions

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CROW

"Uncle Wiggily, Uncle Wiggily! Wait a moment, if you please!" called the Lady Mouse Teacher as the rabbit gentleman was hopping past her hollow stump school one day. "I want to see you!"

"If you aren't going to keep me in for not knowing my lessons," laughed Mr. Longears. "Oh, no, indeed! School is out long ago," squeaked Miss Mouse. "But I wish you would stop, on your way home, and give this to Dottie Flufftail."

"Oh, it's a little looking glass for the lamb girl," said Uncle Wiggily, as he saw what the Lady Mouse was dangling on her paw. "Did Dottie forget her mirror?" asked the bunny.

"Not exactly," answered the Lady Mouse with a smile that showed her white teeth. "But Dottie forgot, and was playing with the little mirror in class, so I had to take it away from her. I intended giving it back to her after school, but I didn't remember. Will you please see that she gets it?"

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily, and with a twinkle of his pink nose he took the tiny, round looking glass from Miss Mouse and hung it on his paw by the ribbon loop to which it was fastened.

With the little lamb girl's looking glass dangling on his paw, Uncle Wiggily hopped along toward his hollow stump bungalow, intending to stop at the Flufftail home as he passed.

But, all of a sudden, as Mr. Longears was hopping through the forest, a black crow swooped down out of a tree and made a snatch at the bunny's paw.

"Hold on there! What's the idea if I may ask you?" cried Uncle Wiggily as politely as he could speak.

"Oh, never mind! Don't bother about me!" hoarsely croaked the crow, and away he flew.

"Hum! That's queer," thought Uncle Wiggily, and he hopped on a little farther. But, all of a sudden once more, down swooped the black crow bird.

"Look here! What is it you want of me?" answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Excuse me," hoarsely croaked the crow, "but I just couldn't help swooping at you. It's that bright, shining looking glass you carry on your paw. We crows, you know, always try to pick up everything shiny that we see. I just can't help going for that glass."

"Well, this is Dottie Flufftail's looking glass, and I'd be sorry to see you take it," said Uncle Wiggily. "What shall I do?"

"Hide the glass in your pocket, where I can't see it sparkle in the sun, and then I won't swoop down at it any more," answered the crow.

So Uncle Wiggily put the looking glass in his pocket, and he hopped on a little farther until, all of a sudden, out from the bushes popped the Fuzzy Fox and caught the rabbit.

"Ah, ha! Now I have you and I'm going to take you off to my den and nibble your ears!" snarled fastened it, by the ribbon, on the Fox's tail. And so softly did Uncle Wiggily do this that the Fox never felt it.

"Ouchie! Wow!" barked the Fox.

"Now to see what the crow does!" silently laughed Mr. Longears. No sooner did the sun shine on the looking glass fastened to the tail of the Fox, than down swooped the black bird.

"Ouchie! Wow! Why are you nipping my tail?" barked the Fox, for the crow, trying to pick off the mirror, had nipped the bad chap's tail. "Let my tail alone!" barked the Fox.

"Excuse me!" cawed the crow, and he flew away. But once more, when the bright looking glass glittered, it was too much for the crow. Down he swooped after it again, and he bit the Fox hard on his tail.

"Wow! Wow! This is too much!" howled the Fox. "I can't stand it to have my tail nipped!" And he let go of the bunny gentleman and ran away. And as the Fox ran, the looking glass slipped from his tail and the bunny picked it up. I mean he picked up Dottie's mirror.

"Now I'll put it in my pocket where it's glitter won't make you swoop down any more," said the rabbit to the crow. And the crow cried "Caw! Caw! Caw!" and flew off to the woods after the Fox. But Uncle Wiggily hopped safely on, leaving Dottie's looking glass at her house, and then Mr. Longears went home to his bungalow to supper.

And if the June Bug doesn't try to hide in the sugar bowl and get so stuck up that it won't speak to the firefly, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Woodie Chuck.

"The problem," he said, "is not only political, financial or economic, but it has another aspect—an aspect of morality, of mental and of justice. "We failed to impress upon the German people at large that they were beaten during the war. For reasons of humanity we did not carry the war to German soil. The Germans do not realize that they were beaten and that in justice they should pay for the damage wrought by their armies in Belgium and France. Notwithstanding that they signed the Versailles Treaty, they have since 1919 successfully evaded payment of this just debt."

"CAP" STUBBS—Mary Margaret Decides for Cap

At First Sight

Today's Short Story, by Ad Schuster

It was difficult for George Layne to keep his eyes off the girl across the car. Several times he looked up, met her glance, and buried his head behind his paper. He did not wish to appear rude; it would not do to have a girl like this one think he was trying to flirt. George concentrated his attention upon the news of the printed page, then he stole another look. It was plain the girl knew she was being observed and resented it.

The car stopped at George's station and he joined the crowd on the elevated platform, clattered down the steps, and made for the cross-city surface car. As he neared this second car a woman who had just stepped on, turned and looked at him. It was the girl.

Elaborately the young man pretended he did not know he was in the same car with the young woman. It might frighten her if she thought he was following. The idea of his trailing a stranger, and a girl, across the city, made George smile. His eyes sought hers, and he blushed miserably, for her brows were knitted and she was regarding him intently as if to fix his features in her mind. George stood straight and shrugged his shoulders while he told himself he had no reason to feel ashamed. He would be glad when his corner was reached.

The girl got off at George Layne's corner, and doggedly he followed. Maybe she would rather he would walk home around the block? A man had the right to return from work without arousing suspicion. The girl threw a frightened glance over her shoulder and quickened her pace. George tried to whistle a tune.

The young woman was almost running when she turned into the three-story building given to rooms and board. George, not far behind and aching for a chance to explain, turned after her. This was where he roomed. The hall was empty and he all but ran upstairs. Rounding the first turn he saw the girl. She gasped, started, and fled. Up another flight they went. A frightened girl and exasperated pursuer. On the third floor the door opposite that which George called his, slammed and a key turned with a decisive click. George entered his room, banging the door that she might hear. Then he sat down and went over the adventure, picturing the girl's feelings.

"It is too much of a coincidence for me to believe," he said. "I have trailed her all the way from downtown and to this very floor. I wouldn't blame her for calling the police."

The more he thought of it, the greater the worry. To have anyone classify him with the tribe who annoy women was bad enough, but for this girl who had attracted him from the moment he had seen her to carry the impression was worse. George wrote a note.

"This could not happen anywhere except in the big city," he wrote. "I live in the room across the hall. You can prove it by the landlady. I was not following you and, really, am not that sort. You can prove that also by the landlady."

It was not at all what he would like to say. The young man felt the occasion demanded letters of recommendation and a certificate of character. Conclusive enough, he thought, it might serve as an introduction. Anyway, he would let her know he had not followed her and maybe she would get over her fright. He shoved the note under the girl's door and returned to his room. After a while he wondered if this were not adding a real offense to an imaginary one and if he could rescue the mistake. He peeked out to see if the protruding corner were still in sight, but it was gone.

"The poor girl," he decided, "is probably scared to death." In her room Minnie Lee read the note and laughed.

"I suppose," she said, "had I asked the landlady she would have found the occasion to introduce us formally and properly. But, somehow, this way is much better."

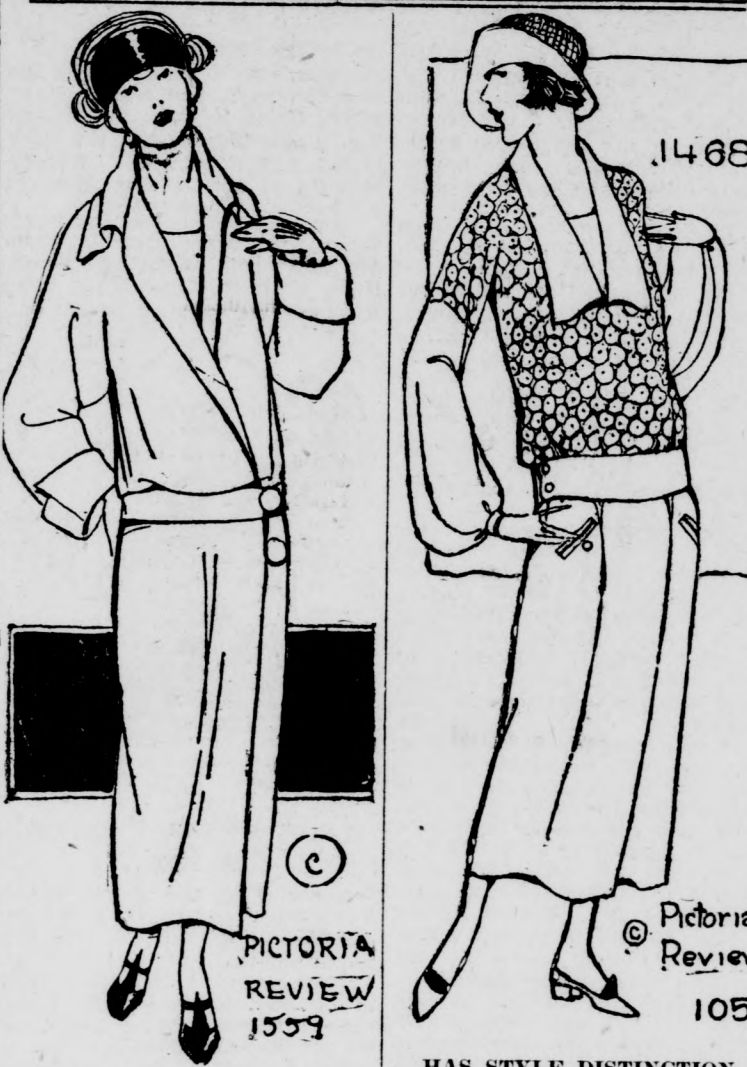

She posed in front of her mirror and registered startled and angry expressions.

"Minnie, girl," she said to the reflection, "the stage lost a bright star when you took up stenography. Wouldn't he be surprised to find out you know his name and where he works?"

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

Can you stand up under having your pride hurt?

If you can't, don't read this. It may have that effect. Most people have an idea that America is the most progressive country in the world. We have a pleasant notion of yourself as inaugurating most of the reforms for human advancement and improvement, while the slow old countries across the water follow in our footsteps many a year behind.

But when you get down to facts, figures and cases, is this true? Let's look at a few figures. Take matters relating to health, for instance. The expectation of life means technical terms) the age to which one has a chance by the law of averages of living when one is born. One would expect our country to have the highest expectation of life. It does not. The highest is possessed by New Zealand. The birth expectation there for females is 61.8 years. Whereas the total life expectancy for either sex at birth in the United States is 55 years. I don't happen to have the figures for males in New Zealand, but it would be slightly less than for females, that comparison holding true everywhere.

(You know the old answer to the statement that married men live longer than bachelors—they don't really live longer, it only seems so. Well, you can apply the same to these figures about males and females if you like.) Not the Healthiest Country To take the thing from a slightly different angle, the average death rate in the United States is fourteen to the thousand; in New Zealand it is between nine and ten.

Surely with all our talk about care of babies we must lead the world in the prevention of infant mortality. We do not. The three countries which lead the world are New Zealand, Norway and Australia. Perhaps you had realized that the United States was more careless about human life than it need be, but I doubt if you knew that we kill and injure two or three times as many employees annually in our mines and railroads as are killed in the advanced countries of Europe.

Far From the Vanguard

We think of America as the most radical of all countries. Was it the first to grant women the suffrage? Not by a good deal. Suffrage was granted women, either wholly or in part, in New Zealand, Norway, Australia, Finland, Denmark, Sweden and Iceland long before the United States had it.

But surely in this land of the public school and the night school and the public library we are the best-educated people in the world. Well, here are a few figures on that. We have the shortest school term and the shortest school day of any of the civilized countries. And, in spite of our compulsory education laws, we have 106 illiterate persons per thousand, as against fifty-eight in England, and in Sweden or Norway, one. Of course this can be partly laid to our immigration, but of our illiterates twenty-eight per cent are native whites. Even if you do not blame us for the seventy-two per cent of foreign-born illiterates, we still stack up pretty poorly against the Scandinavians.

Fewer at College

As to college attendance, we have twenty students out of every 10,000 people at universities. England has fifty-six, Germany has sixty-five, Italy seventy-seven, France eighty-one and Switzerland 178.

Most of these were surprising figures to me when I came across them.

I thought they might be new to you.

And I thought perhaps they

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Do you know—That vinegar is splendid to take stains from under the nails? So is lemon juice, which is stronger than vinegar and a little more drying. If the stains are very stubborn, add a little powder—powdered starch will do, to the lemon juice and put this wet paste under the nails with the end of an orange wood stick. Let it stay there half an hour. Wash off.

Do you know—That an effervescent bath salt can be made as follows? Crush and mix well together five ounces of tartaric acid, five ounces of carbonate of soda and three ounces of rice flour—or corn starch. Put a generous handful into the tub of hot water just as you are ready to step in. One girl told me "it felt like bathing in champagne."

Do you know—That a strong but quite harmless bleach for the skin is made by mixing plain starch and lemon juice into a thin paste and spreading it on the face to dry? If this irritates, use plain water with the starch. It is often advised in this column.

Do you know—That warts can be treated with a paste made of one ounce of sublimed sulphur, two ounces of glycerine and four drachms of acetic acid? The druggist will mix this. Put it only on the wart, though it is quite harmless if any goes on the sound skin.

Do you know, too, that no astringent toilet water is better than this—enough tincture of benzoin added to clear water to make a milky fluid?

Lydia S.—While there is a slight possibility that you can reduce this fleshiness of your nose through massage, there is always the danger of bruising the delicate membranes of the cartilage unless you know just how to do this work for yourself.

Edward C.—Hair tonics are for scalp and not for the hair, so soaking the hair with the scalp preparation is pure waste. All these tonics should be used sparingly and massaged into the scalp. To do this, part the hair in as many places as needed, and massage through these parts with tips of the finger that are moistened with the tonic. Tar soaps are for shampooing dark hair, so the castile will be best for hair as light as yours. Peroxide bleaches considerably the hair, but it does not injure the health as dyes have sometimes done.

Miss P. A. B.—An excellent bleach for the complexion is a lotion made from cucumbers. At this season of year, however, the same effect may be obtained by using the juice of this vegetable, following it up by massaging the cream or a fine oil into the skin. In the lotions that are put up for use throughout the year there is always some oil added in addition to other ingredients for bleaching, and also those for preserving the mixture.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith. We will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget to enclose s. a. s. e. if you ask for an article.

"Dear Doctor—Will you please tell me if there is any cure for a person who snores in his sleep something awful? Seems he can't draw one breath while he sleeps with such an unearthly snore."—Mrs. F.

Snores is said to be caused by the slipping back of the tongue on the soft palate, especially while one is lying on the back. Make up your husband tie a spoon around his waist, so that when he lies on his back it will hurt and he will turn over on his side. Sometimes snoring is caused by enlarged adenoids or tonsils. I am sorry for you if you cannot succeed in stopping it. I have a friend whose husband used to complain of not sleeping, sometimes the whole night, and he worried about it considerably. She was convinced that he did sleep a good deal because he used to wake her with his snoring. One night his snoring was so dreadful that she prodded him and told him to turn over as he was snoring and keeping her awake. He responded that he could not have been snoring if he could not have been asleep. She finally convinced him that he was and it made him realize he was getting more sleep than he thought and he stopped worrying about it. So occasionally, you see, might give you the feeling that they gave me—that we need to get rid of the feeling that America will always be the most prosperous and the best country in the world to live in without any effort on our part to make it so.

Those of you who are going on your vacations and are going to be exposed to the sun, do not expose yourselves very long at first. Gradually increase the time. ## Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls in our teens and would like to know why we should not kiss a boy or be kissed by one until we are engaged. We have made a boy quite angry with us and we don't know how. Please tell us how we can win back his friendship.

Love-making is a very sacred thing and should not be abused. Kisses and expressions of love should not be given promiscuously because the giver soon becomes cheapened and kisses any one regardless of love. It is far better to save your kisses for the man you love and marry than to be conscious of the fact that you have been kissed and "petted" by innumerable other men. Don't be girls with cheap feelings.

Probably the boy is not angry with you, but is merely tired of your company. Perhaps you let him make love to you and as soon as he lost interest in your kisses he found nothing else to hold him. The girl who spends her evenings in the porch swing spooning has less chance of keeping her friends than the girl who is interesting and full of charm in other ways, making the young man want the kisses which she denies him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My face is nearly covered with very small scars and cuts and pimples. It is rough and seems dry. What is best for a skin whiten-er? Please tell me what will help me. SUEIK.

There are so many causes for a skin like yours. Sometimes the thorough nightly washing is neglected, often a bad condition of the blood is the cause, and other times powder and rouge have caused a coarsening of the skin. Wash your face thoroughly every night with warm water and a good face soap. Rinse thoroughly and apply the following ointment for the pimples:

Beta naphthol, two grains; sulphur precipitate, twenty grains; potash soap, twenty grains. In the morning wash and apply a good cold cream, recommended by your druggist. After the cream has been rubbed in, wipe the face with a soft towel and apply the necessary powder. Too much powder will add to the dryness of your skin. I am confident that if you are faithful in your efforts you will improve the condition of your skin greatly.

The following lotion is a very good whitener for the skin: Tincture of benzoin, one teaspoonful; rosewater, one ounce.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Where should a man walk when walking with two ladies, in the middle or on the right side?

Where should a lady walk when walking with two men, on the right or left side?

DEARLY READER. The two ladies should walk on the inside of the sidewalk and the two men on the side toward the street.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me what causes hangnails and what to do for them?

A READER. Hangnails are caused because the cuticle is not kept loose from the nail. Every day soak your hands thoroughly in warm water until the skin around the nails is soft and then push it back gently by means of an orange stick which you can buy at a drug store. You will find that in a short time your hangnails will entirely disappear.

"When Roasting Meats—Grease the pan (roaster) thoroughly before adding water to baste. When the meat is removed, not only does all the essence go into the gravy, but the pan is so easily washed—no burned, stuck spots remaining to be scoured off with powder. Hoping that this little bit will help other struggling bride-housewives as well as save the lives of a few aluminum roasters!"—M. V.

"Removing Scorch Stains.—Lay a wet piece of cloth over the scorched spot and iron over the wet cloth. Do this again and again till the scorch stain is entirely gone. Such steaming is always successful.—A Reader."

"Creeping Bloomers for Baby.—When my baby began to crawl I made him black satteen bloomers with elastic at knee and waist. I pulled these bloomers over his white clothes and it saved so much laundering! It keeps the baby's light clothes so nice and clean. I thought this might help some other busy mother.—Mother of Two."

"To Remove Rust Stains or Fruit Stains.—I know of nothing better for the removal of either fruit or rust stains than oxalic acid. Buy the crystals at the drug store and put them in a bottle, then pour water over it and it is ready to use. Keep it out of the reach of children and it is not poisonous. Always rinse it off the hands and out of cloth after using it (ammonia in the rinse water will neutralize the acid and bring best results).—Mrs. B."

"To Cleanse a Greasy Sink.—When the sink is very greasy rub it with a rag slightly dampened with gasoline. After a few seconds it will be cleaner and brighter than after several minutes of hard rubbing with a scouring powder. I accidentally made this discovery and thought some other readers might like to know about it.—Mrs. J. B."

"To Improve Macaroni and Cheese.—You may often call for macaroni and cheese baked together. Our family likes it, but I think I have improved the dish by cutting up two hard-boiled eggs into the macaroni and cheese before making it! Just try it. It makes the dish even more nutritious and good.—Mrs. R. R."

STATE REALTY OFFICIAL MAKES COMMENTS UPON LAWS SOON EFFECTIVE

New Amendments Contain Provisions Of Big Interest to Public As Well As All
Dealers, It Is Pointed Out

IN THE June number of California Real Estate, the official publication of the California Real Estate association, State Real Estate Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser makes the following interesting comments on the new real estate amendments which were signed by Governor Richardson:

By EDWIN T. KEISER, State Real Estate Commissioner.
For the information of the real estate brokers and public, I make the following comments on the Real Estate Act as amended by the last session of the legislature which has been signed by the governor.

The law becomes effective ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature. The legislature this year adjourned May 18, therefore the amendments to the license law become effective ninety days after that date, which will make it about August 16.

The amendments are important, first, because of the qualification test that may be applied in considering each applicant or anyone desiring to enter the real estate business as a broker, as the law provides that the real estate commissioner may require proof that the applicant has a fair knowledge of the English language, including reading, writing, spelling, elementary arithmetic, a fair understanding of the rudimentary principles of real estate conveying, the general purposes and general legal effect of deeds, mortgages, land contracts of sale, leases, and a general and fair understanding of the obligations between principal and agent, as well as of the provisions of the California real estate act.

I shall submit a questionnaire, the purpose of which will be to show the applicant's qualifications as outlined above. He will be required to make these statements under oath. Should the real estate commissioner not be satisfied with the information obtained, an examination will be given the applicant for the purpose of determining his qualifications.

Ruling on Brokers' Bonds

Section 9a requires that all applicants for broker's license shall, in addition to the recommendations submitted, file with the real estate commissioner a satisfactory bond to the people of the state of California, duly executed by a sufficient surety, or sureties, to be approved by said commissioner, in the amount of two thousand dollars ($2000). The bond of any reliable surety company certified by the Insurance Commissioner of the state of California will be accepted. If an applicant submits a personal bond with his application, the sureties thereto, and there must be two of them, must certify under oath that they are freeholders in the state of California, and second, that they are worth over and above all indebtedness and liabilities, the sum of four thousand dollars ($4000) each. All who may apply for a license after August 16th must submit with their application a satisfactory bond and one that may be approved by the real estate commissioner. The law states that all applicants for broker's license shall file such bond. Any persons who have secured their license prior to August 16, 1923, need not submit such surety bond until the beginning of the year 1924, when making application for a license for the ensuing year.

Notice to Bond Companies

Some bond companies have sent out circular letters to brokers of the state of California, telling them that they must file this surety bond immediately upon the date the law becomes effective; this they have done without any authority from the state real estate department. Should any bonds be sent to the state real estate department because of this information, they will not be accepted, but will be returned to the owner of the bond who should immediately return it to the bond company and demand the return of his money. I ask that all brokers kindly assist the department as much as possible in submitting a good and sufficient bond. The department will not accept any sureties where there is any doubt as to financial responsibility.

Section 11 reads: "Each individual, firm or corporation licensed as a broker under the provisions of this act shall erect and place on the premises to indicate that he, or it, is a licensed real estate broker, and the name of said individual, firm or corporation shall be clearly shown thereon. The size of such sign shall conform to the requirements that may be adopted by the real estate commissioner."

It seems to me that the meaning of this amendment is so plain that it needs but little comment. It first states that a sign shall be erected upon the premises where the business is to be located; second, that the sign shall give the name of the individual, firm or corporation there located and engaged in the real estate business; third, that the sign must indicate any such person, firm or corporation as a licensed real estate broker. The size of such sign should conform to the conditions and surroundings. If the office is located in an office building I think that the name of the individual or firm engaged in that business, upon the door at the entrance of the office, is sufficient, provided it also states "Licensed Real Estate Broker." If a person is located in an office upon the ground floor of a building, a sign of sufficient size which could be seen by the ordinary visitor to such office would, it seems to me, meet the requirements. If a person has his office in the residential part of a city, a sign upon the lawn or house, giving the name of the person, indicating that such person is a licensed broker, would answer. For instance, "John Doe, Licensed Real Estate Broker," would be sufficient. This sign should be placed in such a position that it might be readily observed by anyone entering the residence.

The law further provides that any person who shall fail to display such sign shall have his license temporarily suspended or permanently revoked. The Real Estate Act of 1919, while requiring a sign, did not impose a penalty for failure to display such a sign, but as amended gives the commissioner authority to revoke or suspend the license of any broker failing to meet these requirements.

Bond or Appeal
Section 12 of the license law of July, 1919, was also amended, making it necessary for anyone appealing the decision of the real estate commissioner revoking his license to file with the judge of the Superior Court a bond in a sum to be fixed by said court, which bond shall be in favor of the people of the state of California and be conditioned upon the faithful performance of all the obligations of such appellant or aggrieved person as a real estate broker. Said bond being for the benefit of any person having real estate dealings with such appellant or aggrieved person, and any such person so dealing with the same shall have the right to commence a suit thereon in his own name against said broker and his sureties.

State Realty Officers Commended by Eppich

President L. F. Eppich, of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, commended the work of the California Real Estate Association officers, boards and individual members throughout the state in the following letter to President Frazier O. Reed:

"What the men who make up the membership of the real estate boards within the California association stand for in the building up of general professional recognition has been evidenced in a very substantial way within the last few months in the putting into existence of your new state real estate laws. In initiating this program, in getting together to make an accomplished fact, you have been consciously at work to create for California a public situation in which the state itself should be able to stand back of the general standard you have set for responsibility in real estate transactions. That is good for California. It is good for the building up of the real estate world of the business ideals which it is the avowed purpose of our national association to put into effect. We need you of California and the experience which California can contribute in the discussions of the important living questions which will be before us in the national association."

BUILDING TOTALS

Building permits totaling $5,168,935 have been issued in Glendale during the six-month period of January-June, 1923. This is one and two-thirds times the $3,078,410 for the same period last year.

There's No Gamble In Buying Southern California Realty! Purchase Is Safe Investment

The element of gambling has been eliminated from the purchase of Southern California real estate, according to the following article written by C. W. Klein, editor of the Southern California Real Estate Journal of Los Angeles, and the only "sucker" in the real estate business is the man who sells and allows the new owner to make the big profits that might easily have been his own. Here's Mr. Klein's views:

THE SELLER PLAYS "SUCKER"

A "sucker," according to the actual meaning of the word, is somewhat different from the meaning that general usage has placed upon it.

The old meaning of "sucker" is "one who takes things in," who accumulates through assimilation. Modern usage, however, has attributed to the meaning of "sucker" as the fellow who gets "stung," who gets "taken in."

In other words, instead of being the "assimilator," as was the original meaning, the "sucker" is now the one who gets "assimilated." The buyer was the sucker and the seller was the fellow who "unloaded" on him.

Here, in Southern California, nature, largely, with a little aid from somewhere between two and three millions of humans, has changed it all around.

Nature, who, in most places seems to be pretty well content to let things slide along in the same old groove, has a complete reversal of form here and, instead of a man taking a gamble when he steps out and accumulates a little piece of the land and having to lay around and wonder whether or not he will ever be able to get his money back, to say nothing of a profit, HE CAN KNOW that when he gets the title or a contract to a lot or any other piece of real property in this section he is headed straight for fortune.

The "sucker" in Southern California is the man who SELLS, not the man who buys.

Everywhere you go, almost everybody you see has either made a nice bunch of profit on an investment here or else some of their folks have done it.

I know quite a few people here and I don't know a single one who has ever lost a cent in Southern California Real Estate!

I know people who have lost money in oil investments or speculations, lots of them. I know people who have lost money in stocks, in bonds, in bank failures and business ventures. Business statistics, they tell, show that there are NINE FAILURES to every Success in business life.

If you can show me where there has been one loss in REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS out of every NINETY (not nine but Ninety) investments made I will buy you a new hat.

SHOW MORTGAGES IN REAL ESTATE

Investment of Insurance Companies in Realty to Be Tabulated

A study of mortgage investments of American life insurance companies, just made by the National Association of Real Estate Boards and now being printed, will shortly be issued to the 20,000 members of the association. It presents the findings which it believes constitute one of the strongest arguments that has ever been put forth for the validity and desirability of real estate mortgages.

Investments of practically all the life insurance companies of the country for the years 1916-1921 are covered in the analysis, which compares the returns received by these companies from real estate mortgage holdings and from other types of investment. The study is based on data prepared by the Alfred M. Best Company. The analysis was made for the National Association by the Institute for Research in Land Economics of the University of Wisconsin, under the direction of Dr. Richard T. Ely, the institute's head.

The rate of return secured from mortgage investments by American life insurance companies in the period covered shows an average advantage over rate of return from investments in stocks and bonds of 1.49 per cent per annum, the statistics show. The average gross rate earned on mortgages is 6.1; on stocks and bonds, 4.6. This gives on the rate earned an advantage in favor of mortgage investments of practically 25 per cent.

Particular significance attaches to the showing which the study makes because of the fact that the period covered by the records examined comprises the major portion of a business cycle during which we had one of the most abrupt price movements in the history of the United States. It was a period of great stress, and a test period for investment security.

PERMITS DOUBLE

Glendale's building permits for the month of June totaled $900,051, which is over twice the total of $355,613 for June, 1922, and is $466,364 more than the total for May, 1923.

GROWTH IS SHOWN

From $28,263,619 in 1919, Los Angeles building permits have advanced to $121,206,787 in 1922, while bank clearings of that city have risen from $1,547,065,951 in 1918 to $5,152,311,839 last year.

Appeal for Revision Of Vacant Land Tax

Appeal to the National Association of Real Estate Boards for revision of the ruling of the Internal Revenue Bureau on income tax deductions in the case of vacant lands has been taken under consideration by the Treasury Department. Taxes and interest charges are involved estimated to amount to $43,500,000 in New York City alone, and to proportionate amounts in cities all over the country where tracts have lain idle during the recent period of business depression.

Only the current year's taxes on vacant lands, including the carrying charges, may be deducted in determining the capital net gains derived from their sale, the bureau held in the ruling against which the association is protesting. Contention of the association is that taxes for the years since the income tax law began to operate should be deductible. In the case of lands lying idle no deduction of the piling interest and charges and taxes was possible, since there was no income. It is explained. The bureau ruling allowed interest allowance for the whole period, but tax exemptions only for the year of the sale. Tax officials are just now, in their checking, reaching returns where profits begin to be reported in sales made of the tracts held frozen during the poor movement in real estate from 1907 or 1913 to 1917.

Minister's Income Is Subject of Tax Rule

A recent revenue ruling, received in the office of Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, clarifies a much-discussed question with reference to the income of ministers of the gospel.

Under the 1921 revenue act it was provided that the rental value of a dwelling house and appurtenances thereof, furnished to a minister of the gospel as part of his compensation, need not be included in gross income, in making returns for income tax purposes. The ruling clearly states, however, that where a church provides its minister of the gospel with a yearly allowance, in addition to his salary, in lieu of a parsonage, that amount is subject to tax as additional compensation for services rendered. No deduction from the amount may be claimed for the cost of a parsonage, but expenses attributable to that portion of the parsonage which is devoted to professional use may be claimed as a deduction.

Where a church presents outright a parsonage and furnishings to a minister of the gospel it comes within the provision of gifts, and need not be included in gross income.

There may possibly have been some, I can't say, but I have never heard of one, and I was raised in this country, too.

A lady I knew very well paid $500 down on a corner lot in Long Beach twenty years ago. Her well meaning banker friends in Pomona told her Long Beach was on its last legs and she had better lose her $500 than risk the other $1500. Three or four years ago, I understand, the same lot sold for $30,000. It now has a twelve-story apartment house on it, and, I expect, probably has a value in excess of $50,000.

I know an employe over at the Union National Bank, here in Los Angeles. This employe's mother purchased a lot in Walnut Grove, joining Huntington Park, last summer, paying a few hundred dollars down. She sold it last month for more than $1000 profit.

These are just a few cases but they are typical. I could go right ahead and use a ream of typewriter paper up telling you of cases just like this.

That is the difference between Southern California Real Estate investments and other investments and speculations.

The "gamble" is eliminated. A climate that is unequalled—an industry growing by leaps and bounds—a population increasing hundreds of thousands every year—all these combine to assure the future of Southern California beyond any possible question.

If you can't take your profit the first month after you buy, and lots of them do, wait a little, for within six months or a year your profit is certain. I have never known it to fail and always, always, the fellow who holds off the longest about selling is the one who reaps the biggest profit.

The "sucker" is never the fellow that BUYS, for he is always sure of a profit—it is always the fellow who SELLS for, while he is taking a little profit he is always passing up a bigger one when he turns it over to somebody else.

81,000 lots sold last year and 102,000 new buildings.

That tells the story! Get aboard the prosperity train and get YOUR share of the profits.

You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink. You can look these opportunities in the face until you are stone blind but you will never make a dollar off a single one of them until you crack down and get in the game.

You can make money buying real estate next year, and the year after that, and the year after that, too, for California is just getting a good start, but the sooner you get your money down on the line and become an "owner" instead of a "renter" just so soon you become a "maker" instead of a "payer" and you graduate OUT of the "sucker" class. Think it over.

COUNTY'S BUDGET FIFTEEN MILLION

Nearly $3,000,000 Greater Than Amount Appropriated
For Last Year

More than $15,000,000 has been appropriated by the Board of Supervisors to cover the expenses of Los Angeles county during the fiscal year 1923-24. The total of the budget which has just been announced is $15,424,728, an increase of nearly $3,000,000 over that of last year when the total was $12,886,192. The expense of all branches of the county work has increased, particularly in charity and welfare work and in criminal investigation.

The largest expenditure will be for the salary fund of the general government, amounting to $2,776,638, an increase of more than $500,000 over last year's expenditure. Charities, hospitals and corrective work will also show an increase of more than $150,000, this year's budget allowance for this important feature of the county work being $2,568,114. Following is the 1923-24 budget appropriations: General government, $2,776,638; protection to person and property, $929,797; conservation of health, $270,296; charities, hospitals and corrections, $1,630,794; education, $59,685; recreation, $67,687; miscellaneous, unclassified, $92,000. ## Realtors of Bay City Add 608 New Members

The San Francisco Real Estate board has added 608 associate members, and now has a total enrollment, active, affiliated and associated, of nearly 1,500 members. In a recent statement by Dudley D. Westler, real estate editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, the State Association news service is given the following excerpts on the San Francisco board:

In San Francisco a small group of the more substantial brokers gathered together some eighteen years ago and agreed to lay aside their hammers. They admitted that some of the common practices were bad both for themselves and their clients and decided that in order to raise the standards of the profession these practices must be fully abolished.

"That gathering was the origin of the San Francisco Real Estate Board, which now has on its roster more than 800 active, affiliated and associate members. In the drive completed this week 608 prominent property owners were admitted to associate membership, thereby raising the total to nearly 1,500."

"Through his associations with the local board each member automatically belongs to the National Association of Real Estate Boards. This association embraces 475 such boards throughout the United States and Canada, boasting a total membership of 33,895 real estate men, each one of whom has subscribed to the national code of ethics and is entitled to designate himself a realtor."

Advertising Booklet Helps Boost Glendale

The advertising booklet issued by the publicity committee of the Glendale Realty Board, for distribution at the National convention of Real Estate Boards, held in Cleveland the last four days of June, is attracting much favorable comment.

On the cover of the booklet, in bright blues and greens, on an ivory background, appears Glendale's prize peacock float; while on the back in soft greens is a charming Glendale woodland scene. The booklet briefly outlines some of the outstanding features of Glendale's rapid growth, and its advantages as a home city.

While primarily prepared for advertising Glendale at the national convention, several thousand of these booklets have been ordered by local banks and real estate offices, for distribution from their offices. Miss Winnifred Traver, office secretary of the board, reports that two large orders have come in from Los Angeles firms having extensive interests in Glendale.

GLENDALE MAKES ANOTHER RECORD IN CONSTRUCTION WORK FOR SIX MONTHS

First Half Of Year Proves That This City
Is Continuing Its Prosperity March
Towards Goal of $10,000,000

BULLETIN

Figures made public today show that Glendale stands fifth in building in the Pacific southwest for the first six months of this year. It is headed only by Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Pasadena. The figures in detail are given on the first page of the main news section of this issue of The Glendale Evening News.

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

GLENDALE has written a vivid new record upon the official pages of city building history, piling up for June a total of $900,051 in permits for actual construction, spread over 237 different jobs, making the total for the year to date $5,168,935; while July has gone well over the $100,000 mark its first week, causing H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the municipal building department, to predict $10,000,000 worth of permits in the ledger by the end of 1923.

The significance of these figures becomes more apparent when it is known that the $900,051 of June, the current year, is four times the $202,471 of the same month, 1920; three times the $294,961 of that month, 1921; and twice the $355,613 of June, 1922.

GLENDALE IS GOING STRAIGHT AHEAD

June, moreover, is ordinarily considered a quiet month in the building trades, the numerous activities such as graduation and vacation plans tending to hold back construction. It is significant that Glendale this year chose to go right through June at full building speed.

With a total of $5,168,935 in permits recorded for the first half of the year, a comfortable elevation is offered for the survey of the six months immediately ahead. Such a survey discloses at once that there are numerous big building projects looming up on the horizon, among them several very large hotel and apartment-house permits and a Southern Pacific depot.

It is also likely that one or more lodges and perhaps another large church will get under way before the close of 1923, together with several store and office buildings, markets and other commercial structures.

MANY BUNGALOWS BEING BUILT

And Mr. Vandewater's records show that bungalows, duplexes and courts are literally going up in Glendale by the hundreds. Among the work started in June was an apartment building, eight duplexes, thirteen office buildings, over 100 bungalows, ten or more large houses, and sixteen miscellaneous permits totaling $325,147 in themselves.

Another significant angle to the above figures is to be found in the fact that this half-year's total of $5,168,935 in building permits is 1 2-3 the $3,078,410 of permits issued during the first six months of 1922. Should this ratio continue through another year, the total for January to June, inclusive, 1924, would reach the large figure of $8,614,890.

With Glendale's population estimated today at 42,000 people, and with large investments of capital pouring into the city, it is becoming obvious to everyone but the pessimists, that the day when "the fastest growing city in America" will spell "home" to 60,000 is not far off.

SHOWS INCREASE IN TAX RECEIPTS IMPROVEMENT IN RAILROADS SEEN

Collections for Fiscal Year
Ending June 30, 1923, Reveal Advance

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The annual report of Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, for the sixth district of California, comprising the ten southern counties, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, discloses the following facts which indicate increased prosperity in Southern California: From January to June, 1922, there was collected as income tax payments $17,439,426.80. For the same period of 1923 there was paid into the coffers of the government, through Mr. Goodcell's office, $21,777,851.31, or an increase of $4,338,424.51.

For all other taxes there was collected from January 1 to June 30, 1922, $4,911,926.74; for the corresponding period of 1923 there was paid in $5,921,775.69, or an increase of $1,009,848.95, being a total increase of the period January 1 to June 30, 1923, over a corresponding period in 1922, of $5,348,273.46.

Collector Goodcell states that the indications are that the proportion of gain will increase rather than decrease during the balance of 1923, and that this year will be a banner year for his office.

HUGE RADIO PLANT

A 1000-watt radiophone broadcasting station of the General Electric company will be located in Oakland, and will be the most powerful plant west of Schenectady, N. Y., its sending range taking in every portion of the American continent, including Alaska and Panama.

Nearing State of Efficiency
In Operation, Is Claim
Of Finance Expert

Railroads in America, recovering slowly from the blight of government ownership which strangled their progress during the war period, are approaching a state of efficiency never before attained, says James Wilbur of Blyth, Witter & Co.

In the effort to increase efficiency of operation, the railroads have set thirty miles a day as the average mileage which should be yielded by freight cars. For the month of April the average daily movement reached twenty-eight miles per car, which is an increase of 6.7 miles over the average for April of last year and 7.4 miles over the average for the same month in 1921.

It has been determined that the increase of one mile in the average movement of freight cars for the entire country is equivalent to the addition of 100,000 cars. In other words, by making each freight car travel one mile extra each day in the month, the railroads increase the efficiency of their rolling stock to the same degree as if they had purchased 100,000 new cars. This means not only a saving in capital invested, but shows an increased efficiency which reaches to every part of the organization, with resultant savings in wages and better service to patrons.

The average carload for April was 27.6 tons, which is a gain of 3.2 tons over the average carload of April last year. A concerted effort on the part of the railroads also is under way to increase the average load to thirty tons.

PREDICT 8 BILLION

It is anticipated that Los Angeles will roll up a volume of business for 1923 totaling $8,000,000,000.

CASTLE HEIGHTS HAS FINE VIEW

Above Fog and Heat Belts
And Adjoins Big Estate
Of L. C. Brand

"In Castle Heights, above the heat and fog belts, we are offering the people of Glendale the best subdivision of our business career," is the way E. D. Hamlin, of Hamlin & Hepburn, 203 West Broadway, voices his opinion of the property they are now developing.

"Mr. Hepburn and myself have both bought lots in Castle Heights, where we will build our own homes," Mr. Hamlin states. "That is what we think of the property."

"And people know what L. C. Brand, president of the Title Guarantee & Trust company, Los Angeles, thinks of that locality, for it is there he built that imposing castle, 'Miradero,' known all over Southern California."

"Adjoins Brand Estate"

"Castle Heights, at Western avenue and Mountain street, adjoins Mr. Brand's famous estate and shares in its many advantages, such as cool, balmy weather."

Goldfield Fire Burns Itself Out Slowly

TONOPAH, Nev., July 7.—Fire which yesterday devastated the famous old "boom" town of Goldfield, Nevada, today was slowing burning itself out. Six blocks in the heart of the town on each side of Main street, the principal thoroughfare, were in ruins and a property loss had been caused which was estimated at half a million dollars.

er, high above the city; unexcelled panoramic views of the San Fernando valley, Griffith park and the Sierras reaching away to the southward; convenience to transportation, schools and other facilities; together with the fact that two main boulevards run by the door, Western avenue reaching from the foothills to the ocean, and Mountain street, extending from Burbank at the Sunset Canyon Country club to Grand View avenue, Glendale."

Castle Heights, Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Hepburn both feel would command twice the prices now being asked, were Western avenue opened up through Griffith park to that section passing the premises, as it is certain to be.

"Adjoins Brand Estate"

"Castle Heights, at Western avenue and Mountain street, adjoins Mr. Brand's famous estate and shares in its many advantages, such as cool, balmy weather."

TUJUNGA

NOTED LANDMARK DESTINED TO GO

Rallying Place for Pioneers
Of Tujunga Must Yield
To New Building

Tujunga's postoffice, famous in John S. McGroarty's writings, and a landmark and gathering place of the scribe's "Congregation of the Faithful" since the days of the Little Landers and Los Terrenitas, will soon be no more. In ninety days the present postmaster, Mrs. Nona Halferty, who just recently succeeded the original "Postmaster" of fiction and fact, Fred Ashby, who has retired, hopes to be located in the new building that is going up across the street from the present location.

The inevitable march of progress demands larger and more up-to-date facilities than satisfied the colonists who settled this community, beginning in 1913.

On the steps of this postoffice many of the community problems have been solved. Indeed, there is no doubt that the entire trouble of the whole nation has been diagnosed there by the august body of men who guided the destinies of the little community and most of whom are now retired in their little homes in the hills, and who are now affectionately referred to by Mr. McGroarty as the "Millionaires of Happiness and Contentment" of the Green Verdugo Hills. Among these notables are Fred Ashby, the old postmaster, and Wilmet Parcher, who, to quote Spencer Robinson, is "The first mayor Glendale ever had."

Judge Bredt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has let the contract for the new fireproof building that will house the post office. R. J. Smith of Tujunga received the award and work was begun immediately. The building will be one-story and stucco finish, and the contractor hopes to have it finished in sixty days.

A counter petition was circulated to offset the one forwarded to Washington about a week ago which requested that the post office be moved to the Tujunga Valley Bank building. Over 100 signatures were received to the second petition, many of them being names of signers of the first paper. Mrs. Halferty has forwarded the petition to the postal authorities at Washington.

On Monday morning, July 2, Tujunga's star rural route began to function. The mail is now delivered to Tujunga and the rural route starts from there, instead of, as formerly, from Glendale. The route as now outlined is shorter by nearly ten miles than the old route, which will in itself increase the quality of the service.

Carrier Settle, who had the old route out of Glendale, is carrier for the new route, which is designated as Route No. 1, Tujunga.

BURBANK

PERMITS REVEAL BUILDING GROWTH

First Six Months of 1923
Almost Equal Entire Amount Last Year

Burbank took out $157,330 in building permits during the month of June this year, as against $54,870 in June, 1922, or an increase of nearly 300 per cent. In May, this year, the total of building permits issued was $318,750, which, compared with the total of $62,325 for May of 1922, shows an increase in excess of 500 per cent.

The total for the first six months this year is $1,118,957, as against $1,330,940 for the entire year of 1922. Should this ratio continue throughout the current year, Burbank will round out the twelvemonth with a building total of $2,237,914, which will bring her strongly to the forefront of growing California cities.

That these $157,330 of permits issued for June, this year, cover a large number of small structures and are not lumped in a few outstanding enterprises, is attested by the fact that the largest permit recorded for the month was $15,000, covering a bungalow court.

Bus to Hollywood
Beginning around August 1, direct bus service will be established between Burbank and Hollywood, with the local terminus of the line at Tenth street and Alameda avenue, and the Hollywood terminus at Hollywood boulevard and Highland avenue, according to T. K. Brown of 1046 Thompson avenue. The route of the line is given as being along Tenth street to Olive avenue, thence down this thoroughfare to the Ventura road and over the pass to Highland avenue, a total distance of eight miles.

The service will be from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11:30 o'clock at night, Mr. Brown states. During the rush hours the busses will operate hourly. At other times the schedule will be operated on an alternate hour basis, with increases as soon as patronage warrants.

The fare is given as 25 cents one way, 45 cents a round trip, $7.50 for a sixty-day book, good for forty days, and $4.50 for a twenty-five-day family book, good for ninety days. The fare from the Tenth street terminus at Alameda avenue to Olive avenue and San Fernando road will be 5 cents. The busses will accommodate school children as well as the many adults who desire cheap transportation downtown.

Mr. Brown states that the running time will be twenty-five minutes from terminal to terminal. The busses will carry twenty passengers each and will be of the "street car" type, with center aisle.

It is felt by Mr. Brown and others that this new service will mean much in building up the city as a residence district for thousands whose business is in Hollywood and that territory, in addition to offering present residents a service they have long desired.

Boulevard Now Open
A piece of news that will be of interest not only to residents of Burbank but motorists in general is the information passed out by City Engineer Miller, to the effect that the mile stretch of San Fernando boulevard west from Turndown Crossing is now rebuilt and the road is open to the public.

The only danger now is that its glassy smoothness may bring over-exuberant motorists before Judge Crawford, who presides over "speeders' court."

City Engineer Miller also reports the grading done on South Olive avenue. The paving will presently be put on, whereafter motorists will have a fine boulevard via Olive avenue direct to Hollywood.

Realty Board Wins National Plaudits

The Glendale Realty Board has recently received honorable mention from the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and congratulations from the State Association, for its action in bringing the membership one hundred per cent into the California Real Estate Association, and in subscribing for the National Real Estate Journal for each member of the Glendale board. As the Glendale board has succeeded in accomplishing this before either Long Beach or Pasadena boards, the members naturally feel much elated.

Coal Miners Strike Over Petty Troubles

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 7.—Twenty-seven hundred men employed at collieries of the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Pittston, yesterday, have laid down their tools and declared a strike owing to petty grievances.

EQUALS WAR DEBT

The total business transacted in Los Angeles during the first half-year of 1923 amounted to $4,000,000,000, which would have more than canceled the $3,340,746,000 debt France owes the United States.

BIT OF HISTORY

On May 27, 1905, the first California State Realty Federation was formally launched. The first convention was held that year in Los Angeles.

Platinum is nearly always found in the native state.

AMUSEMENT PARK
TO BE ENLARGED

Garden of the Moon Will Be
One of Southland's
Leading Resorts

Enlargement of The Garden of the Moon from its present size until it becomes one of the leading amusement parks in the Southland is the aim of the new owner, W. W. Wilcox, who recently secured the lease on the property and now has control of a tract of land that will give him eight acres in which to expand as the project grows.

One of the first requisites of the enlarged park planned by Mr. Wilcox is greater and more adequate transportation facilities between Tujunga and other cities in this region, and he is at present in communication with the heads of the various systems with a view to having their services extended to reach the immediate vicinity of The Garden of the Moon. In the event that he can be assured of better transportation facilities, he will go east to the booking centers and arrange to bring to his resort some of the biggest attractions to be found in the country.

He has found that many people who prefer the mountains to the beaches are anxious to find some amusement park within easy reach where they can take their families and spend the day picnicking or where they can see a high grade of entertainment, and he is confident that he can draw a large proportion of his patronage from this class, as is evidenced by the increase that has already been shown since he assumed charge of the resort. Mr. Wilcox is a man of wide experience in the amusement business, having spent the greater part of his life in it in one form or another, and he knows what to give the people and how to present it so that it will find favor with the people.

The swimming pool at The Garden of the Moon is proving a big attraction, as are the dance hall and picnic grounds, and every amusement facility in the park will be enlarged to meet the demands on it as the business grows.

GRANDE VISTA IS
CHOICE PROPERTY

H. N. Landon Tells of Plans
To Make Subdivision One
Of Very Finest

"The aristocrat of subdivisions" is what H. N. Landon, of 213 West Broadway, calls Grande Vista, the choice Glendale foothill property he recently purchased from the Duff interests and Myrtle Baldwin, a total of thirteen acres, adjoining L. C. Brand's castle on the west, the total consideration being $49,500.

This property is now being developed by Mr. Landon in the most high-class manner possible, with paved streets, ornamental parkways crowded with beautiful trees, curving walks and secluded bridge paths, and an ornamental bridge spanning the small canyon separating the lower residence lots from the upper acreage, which will be developed into villa sites.

"No homesites anywhere are more ideally located than these we are offering at Grande Vista," Mr. Landon says. "We have placed a complete survey of conditions elsewhere, and because we bought the best that Glendale had to offer."

Reasonable Prices
"This tract will become in a short time one of the finest residence sections in the Southwest. We know it, because we have made a complete survey of conditions elsewhere, and because we bought the best that Glendale had to offer."

"But we bought right. Others, following our example, will find raw acreage in the vicinity selling now for as high as Grande Vista prices fully developed with every facility for convenience and luxury."

Lots in the Grande Vista tract range in size from 60x162 1/2 feet to large villa sites, facing either on main boulevards or on private winding paved streets.

Improvements provided include paved streets, parkways, curbs, sidewalks, water, light and gas.

Admits Bribing Juror
To Free Len Small

WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 7.—William J. Riley, star witness for the state in the trial of three men who are charged with conspiracy to bribe the jury which acquitted Governor Len Small, took the stand late Thursday and reluctantly repeated the confession of his part in the bribery.

Riley, a saloon keeper of Antioch, said that he had received $1,000 to divide with John B. Fields, one of the Small jurors, and a defendant in the present case with Ed Courtney and Ed Kaufmann. He gave Fields only $350, he said, and spent the rest.

HOME BUILDING
NOW ADVISABLE

Manager of Acacia Hills
Cites Some Reasons Why
Present Is Good Time

"Those who carefully read the reports given out by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce have reason to reflect upon the information they contain and the conclusions that may be drawn from them relative to home building in this section," remarked Ferd Goodfellow, manager of Acacia Hills, Glendale's new hillside subdivision, the other day.

"The receipts of lumber at Port Los Angeles for the month of June were 204,135,000 feet, and this enormous importation far exceeds that ever received at any other port in the whole world at any time in history."

"Now it is possible to build a house entirely without lumber, but it is not now advisable, either from the standpoint of utility or beauty, but with our own forests being so rapidly depleted of lumber material it is futile to believe that the cost of that article will ever be lower, or that the cost of building will ever be materially reduced from that of the present."

"We all know that there is a housing shortage over the whole world and that the demand of builders for material is so great that the supply cannot keep up with it in some sections of the country, and everywhere people are being cautioned that rents will continually rise and congestion continually increase in city areas in the future."

"A few years ago bungalows and cottages were plentiful in suburban and city outlying sections at the price now paid for a couple of housekeeping rooms in a flat building. Luckily transportation facilities, both public and private, are keeping pace with the growth of population. Our Acacia Hills is as close to the heart of Los Angeles by actual time taken to reach it, and by that I mean the center of the retail shopping district, as Union avenue and Seventh street was ten years ago, and as excellent retail districts are now found all over Glendale there is no reason to drive even the twenty minutes that it would take one to go to the corner of Fifth and Broadway from this location, for the purpose of supplying domestic needs."

"The school facilities, too, of Glendale are keeping pace with the extension of the population. This year we are to invest more than $200,000 in a building program for the needs of our growing children, and a better investment could not be made, for the real wealth of this nation is not in material things, but in the quality of its citizenship, for through that alone can its perpetuity be guaranteed."

"Our school boards realize that building costs are never likely to be materially lower than at present, and the man who intends ever to build a home should consider how much of his capital is being eaten up every month in paying a profit to the man who is his landlord, and that profit will be continually greater as time goes on, while the tenant has nothing left to show for his expenditure. Even the man in business, who has heretofore argued that it is better to put his money into his enterprise than into a home, cannot so argue now, for city real estate will continue to advance as the congestion continues, and his rents will eat up his profits. He can go out to Acacia Hills and build his home and get to business by automobile as

So morality, comfort and common sense are found in the advice to the family man to get a home of his own, and not too convenient to the bright lights."

MONTROSE RUSHING WORK ON NEW POSTOFFICE

Delivery of Mail to Start as Soon as Bonds Are Approved

Included in the new business block at the corner of Montrose and Honolulu avenues will be a postoffice of the fourth class. Mrs. Frances W. Brown has received notification of her appointment as postmaster and mail will be delivered from the new office as soon as her bonds are accepted by the postal authorities at Washington.

Part of the Montrose Drug company's store room in the corner of the Belanger building is being fitted up with the necessary fixtures, including lock boxes. Signs have been erected and everything will be ready when the acceptance and cancellation stamps arrive. The location is excellent, being in the center of Montrose's thriving business district.

The office being fourth-class, the postmaster must supply the fixtures and Mrs. Brown is installing creditable ones. Mrs. Brown comes well prepared for the position, having considerable experience in postal work. She served in the Pasadena office last.

Salary Based on Sales
Pay for postmasters of fourth-class offices is based on the number of stamps canceled and it will add greatly to the success of this office if all the letters possible are mailed there.

Mail will be delivered twice daily over the same star route now delivering mail to La Cresenta and Tujunga offices as soon as the office in Montrose is officially opened. This will prove a big improvement over the present rural delivery system and a great convenience to Montrose residents.

The Montrose Chamber of Commerce undertook to solve the postoffice problems a year ago and it is chiefly due to the persistent efforts of the postal committee of the chamber, of which C. A. Haskins is chairman, and Theodore Belanger that the appointment was made.

Mrs. E. W. Hayward Re-

A most enthusiastic letter was received this morning by Mrs. E. W. Hayward from Mrs. E. W. Harrison Stamm, recreational director for the Red Cross at the National Hospital for Disabled Volunteer soldiers at Sawtelle, concerning the affair the Tuesday afternoon club is to give next Friday afternoon at the clubhouse for ex-service men.

Mrs. Hayward heads the committee arranging the affair, and is assisted by Mesdames Lillian Dow, William Hunter, C. W. Houston and A. P. Findlay. Mrs. Stamm writes:

"Dear Mrs. Hayward—It will, indeed, be a treat for the men to see your wonderful clubhouse, called the finest in southern California. And, if possible, I will certainly avail myself of the opportunity of going with the men."

Asks for Automobiles
Mrs. Hayward is hoping that 150 men will come up from Sawtelle. In arranging for their transportation she is asking Glendaleans to donate the use of automobiles. Any one desiring to furnish a car has been asked to call Mrs. Barton at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse, Glendale 2358, any morning between 9 and 11 o'clock.

In addition to the men from Sawtelle, all ex-service men in Glendale and neighboring communities are invited to the affair.

An entertainment program will be given and the public can attend by paying a nominal admission fee.

merce held the regular monthly meeting Tuesday night in the Montrose State bank building. The attendance was small; little business transpired. Community betterment projects, both planned and accomplished, were discussed. These included the establishing of a fourth-class postoffice and the road improvement situation and others. The coming annual election was also discussed. The Montrose chamber will celebrate its initial year of existence at the August meeting, at which time officers for the second year will be elected.

COMMENT

That's All

Advertising for Glendale.
Memories of Goldfield.
Lightning Takes Toll.
Farmers' Travail Told.
—By Gil A. Cowan

ADVERTISING Glendale, a duty imposed upon the Chamber of Commerce as a matter of course, is now being done in a large way. Large advertisements in the three leading Los Angeles newspapers, i. e., The Evening Herald, The Times and The Examiner, will call attention to the population of the metropolis and desirability of residing in Glendale.

Billboards strategically located on avenues leading this direction will be posted with information about "the fastest growing city in America." And advertising booklets will be published for distribution.

Great good should result from this campaign and the committee is to be commended for their judgment in spending the advertising appropriation.

Many recollections of Goldfield, Nev., will be called to mind by the burning of the business section of that city yesterday. There are hundreds of people residing in the vicinity undoubtedly who formed part of its 22,000 population in the good old days when it was a rip-roaring camp.

And now in its decadency with only 2000 people to fight the flames the city fell prey yesterday to a most disastrous conflagration. The John S. Cook bank, the old Palace, the Nevada hotel and other landmarks are in ruins.

The sympathy of a booming city should go forth to one that has bloomed like a rose only to have its petals scorched in a summer's sun.

Thunderstorms in the east are taking a toll this summer that makes us glad we are "way out west" in a quiet valley where lightning is unknown. While we are not particularly fearful of nature's electrical display, it certainly is awesome.

Well does the writer remember the sheet lightning of an Illinois evening, also a storm in which the lightning rod was knocked off the house and a tree in the yard splintered by the bolt.

At Prescott, Arizona, they have some wonderful displays of lightning. Incidentally, they are celebrating Frontier Days there this week and we would like to see the cowboys "let 'er buck."

The farmers' travail is told by Counselman C. E. Kimlin, business manager of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, who has just returned from the middle-west.

"The farmers seem to be somewhat discouraged," he says. That is bad news for the nation. For, good, the country may expect all other lines to slow.

It is interesting to read in The Saturday Evening Post a series of articles on the economic situation in the United States. Without blaming the workers for getting the highest wages possible, it is conclusively proven that the various trades have so limited their numbers and working hours that exorbitant charges are made in all sorts of construction work.

Without being a bit blasphemous it would appear that communism may be a cure for the labor evils if, as a class, the artisans continue to profiteer off the bourgeoisie.

Yet communism is not a cure-all. It is simply a state of mind, such as the Russians now have. So is Utopia.

For instance, a person, or family, or community could isolate themselves in the Green Verdugo hills here and live the same as they do in Russia with about as peaceful neighbors as Poland or Norway or the Balkan states. Or a person could believe he was in Paradise right here at home if his or her state of mind permitted it.

We have people in Patton who believe they are the rulers of the universe, or someone equally as interesting.

Which is enough said for Saturday.

POLICY OF STORE MEETS APPROVAL

No Discount Method Proves Satisfactory to Public,
Says R. A. Crossland

The no discount policy recently adopted by the wall-paper store of Crossland Brothers, 225 East Broadway, has been a decided success, states R. A. Crossland.

The general buying public has taken to the idea wholeheartedly, he reports, while in several instances contractors have availed themselves of the opportunity, feeling that they can do better at Crossland Brothers' store than elsewhere.

"I am not trying to be cheap, in cutting out discounts and commissions," Mr. Crossland explains, "but am merely endeavoring to give the public a square deal on wall-paper, which it was impossible to do under the old system."

Explains Position
"This is the way I feel about the discount proposition. Suppose for instance you buy a $100 order of paper for a house you are building. You place your order at my store and the paper is delivered.

EAGLE ROCK

NEW ZONING MAP PUT ON DISPLAY

Number of Protests Follow
As Result of Hearing
On Friday Night

Eagle Rock's new zoning map, now on display at the City Hall, East Colorado boulevard, was the subject of a hearing last night at the Los Angeles City Hall, room 30, when pros and cons were weighed.

The map provides a residence section, wherein but one house may be built on a lot and no duplexes are allowed; a business district, restricted primarily to Colorado boulevard, Central avenue and Broadway, with certain sections on Sycamore, Park and Valley, where business now exists; and an industrial district, in the hills, at the extreme east end of the community, most of which is already occupied by the Edison company.

A number of protests were entered, as a result of last night's hearing.

War On Yucca Vandals
In one community alone, not far from Eagle Rock and within the Los Angeles county limits, seventeen motorists were arrested for yucca picking, and scores of other arrests are registered at other points in this and adjoining counties.

It seems unfortunate, authorities feel, that the matted fist of the law must be used to curb this vandalism; but the types of individuals who persist in hacking and destroying these tall, beautiful blooms, despite columns of press campaigning against their molestation, are apparently too stubborn, willful, ignorant or depraved to care, and must consequently be treated by the laws as designed to treat criminals.

The Eagle Rock foothills at this season are a gorgeous riot of these lovely stalks, with their myriad cream-colored bells ringing silent melodies in the scented summer winds that ply their languorous traffic from the Sierras to the Pacific.

To lovers of nature these giant blooms are an ever-recurring source of delight, as each new summer succeeds the last; and their destruction is no less than a crime, punishable as crime is commonly punished.

Letters by the scores have been received by the Automobile Club of Southern California, urging that some action be taken to check this wanton slaughter of those beautiful flowers, the very "soul of the foothills," as poets have called them.

They Soon Perish
The yucca blooms wither and die overnight, when picked, yet remain waving in the breeze for weeks when unmolested. They form, moreover, a part of the watershed and prevent serious erosion and flood in the dryer hill sections. Their seeds, furthermore, scatter on the four winds, and the beautiful flowers. And, lastly, the yucca is to be found only in the South—and in a part of the romantic atmosphere of our golden foothills, along with our sage, live oaks and chaparral.

To pick these yucca stalks is not only a crime, in the opinion of nature lovers, but a wanton act of unbridled selfishness, and they are determined that the foothills of Eagle Rock shall be immune from yucca-pickers, even if the hand of the law is made to clench into a mailed fist for their protection.

Occidental Scholarship
Miss Esther Smith, who lives with Mrs. H. L. Ferry at 257 Windermere avenue, has been selected for this year's scholarship in Occidental College, announces Mrs. H. I. Cruzan, chairman of the scholarship fund of the Women's Twentieth Century Club.

"Our Girl," as Miss Smith is called by club members, worked her way through Occidental in her freshman year and is active in the local Community Players group.

Show Ford Ignition In National Museum

At the request of the Smithsonian institute, the Ford Motor Company has forwarded a working model of the Ford ignition system for installation among the collections at the National Museum, Washington, D. TRUST POINCARE
PARIS, July 7.—The chamber of deputies late Thursday extended a vote of confidence to Premier Poincare by a vote of 388 to 190.

Thirty-six million passengers used the Pennsylvania railroad terminal in New York last year.

You pay me. Right there the transaction should end, and does end—now. But under the discount and commission system, that was about where it began! For around the day after you bought your $100 order, in walked the contractor who was building your house, or hanging the paper, at the case might be, and demanded $33 in cash—and I had to pay him, even though he might not even have sent you to me.

"I am off that system for life! I have made up my mind that hereafter, when a customer spends $100 with me, he gets that much value, and not one cent of inflation. That is why I am now able to offer the very best qualities of wall-papers at reductions of from one-third to one-half over prices I had to charge under the commission system."
